Most Important Flight
Governor Smith's Hat
Mongrel Success
The Permanent 18th

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

The most important flight thus far made in this country is Art Goebel's nonstop trip from Los Angeles on the Pacific to Long Island on the Atlantic. Goebel made the flight in less than 19 hours, reducing the record by eight hours.

• • •

With the Panama Canal we no longer send fleets around South America. Battleships go from New York through the Panama Canal to San Francisco, or vice versa, in less than two weeks.

• • •

The battleship is now a joke on which our country spends millions because those that make the battleships make the money.

The real defense and attack, as British experiments have proved, is the airship.

We know now that we could bring the air fleet from the Pacific to the Atlantic, or vice versa, for defense or attack within 24 hours.

• • •

When Governor Smith speaks to a radio audience of 70,000,000 at Albany tomorrow night the city will be ornamented with flags, and thousands of Smith admirers will be decorated with derby hats.

Derby hat wearers will notice that it is not Governor Smith's "derby" that is responsible for his rise in the world. That came from the mental machinery UNDER the hat. If it were as easy to imitate the head as to imitate the hat, the world would move rapidly.

• • •

The Governor Smith-Rev. Dr. Straton debate is off. Dr. Straton says he will not let Governor Smith reply to him in his Baptist church, where the Straton charges were made. Governor Smith says, in that case, he won't notice Dr. Straton at all. The decision is wise. If you debate with a clergyman and win, YOU LOSE.

• • •

Professor McKenzie of Washington University, St. Louis, says the human animal today is a mongrel. "It is the hereditary product of a wide variety of racial types. The sex impulse is responsible."

Fondness for travel, war and stealing of wives by young men opposed to invaders, are also responsible.

• • •

Professor McKenzie says truly "peoples as far apart as Semitic and Caucasians should not intermarry."

Otherwise the more mixed the breed the better. Greece was the most mixed race in the days of Pericles, Rome the most mixed in Caesar's time, France most mixed in the reign of Louis XIV. England is the most mixed race today, with the exception of the United States. And Japan is the most thoroughly mixed race of Asia. The right kind of mongrel wins.

• • •

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, head of Columbia College and a learned man, says "the eighteenth amendment must go."

Dr. Butler knows that 36 states would be required to eliminate or modify the eighteenth amendment. You couldn't get 30 or 26 states to vote for a change.

• • •

A President, opposed to prohibition, might, it is said, name supreme court judges to eliminate the eighteenth amendment along lines of the Dred Scott decision.

They might declare the amendment subversive of the Constitution. They might, but they WOULDN'T.

• • •

A Daily Mail dispatch from Hankow, China, reports that Monsignor Fruwise, Catholic priest, an Austrian, 44 years old, was captured by Chinese bandits and killed by torture.

This report, horrible in this age, was only too common on the North American continent in the days of Father Marquette and earlier missionaries.

Many were the Catholic missionaries tortured by savages in those early days.

Clergymen of the Episcopal Church were asked "Is prohibition a success in your locality?" Five hundred and one answered "Yes." One thousand three hundred and four answered "No."

Six hundred and forty-three think prohibition law the best solution of the problem. One thousand six hundred and one said "No." One thousand and three hundred and eighty-nine said the Volstead act should be modified. Six hundred and seventy-three said "No." They were evenly divided on repealing the eighteenth amendment.

• • •

And the Lord said unto Cain, Where is Abel, thy brother? and he said, I know not; am I my brother's keeper?"

This after Cain had killed his brother. The process was reversed in New York yesterday.

Sam Goldenberg, out of work for six months, vainly begged his brother, Herman, for help. Herman refused and Sam shot him.

• • •

The brother shot, Dr. Goldenberg, who may recover, says of Sam, "I regret to say he is my mother's son." The mother would regret that one of her sons had refused to help the other.

THREE KILLED

Columbus, Aug. 21—Three persons are dead here today as a result of accidents. Willard R. Brink, 48, Grove City, was run down by an automobile; Roy Hinney, 28, South Columbus, was killed in an auto collision; and Mrs. Caroline Jones, 82, died of shock from a fractured hip suffered five weeks ago when she fell down stairs in her home here.

I. O. O. F. HONOR IS PLANNED FOR JAMES WARK

Marion Man To Receive Veteran's Jewel at District Meeting

PROGRAM COMPLETED

Grand Lodge Officers Included Among Guests at Gathering Here Next Week

Presentation of a 50-year veterans' jewel to James Wark, Marion photographer, will be one of the features of a district Odd Fellows' meeting to be held here Monday, Aug. 27, according to plans for the program announced today.

The presentation will be made by John M. Gledhill, grand master of the Ohio grand lodge, in connection with a program to be given Monday night at Garfield park pavilion.

The jewel will be given Mr. Wark in recognition of his many years of active connection with the order. It is a gift from Kosciusko lodge, No. 58. J. E. Davis, of Kosciusko Lodge, will act as escort for Mr. Wark in the presentation ceremony.

Escort Committee

The committee on escort for grand lodge officers and visiting lodges includes R. G. Williamson, H. B. Sims, L. F. Bailer, George Hageman, William Phelps, F. C. Bacon and C. E. Chapman.

Final arrangements for the district meeting and for entertainment of Grand Master Gledhill and other grand lodge officers expected to attend were made at the weekly meeting of Kosciusko lodge Monday night. Odd Fellows and Rebekahs from all lodges in district No. 31, which includes Marion county, will be in attendance and several other districts are also expected to be represented.

A committee consisting of R. G. Smallwood, Boyd Caynor and C. E. Primmer was appointed to arrange for a baseball game and other entertainment features to take place from 3 p. m. to 6:30 p. m. A basket picnic will be held at 6:30 o'clock.

All Odd Fellows and Rebekahs and their friends have been invited.

Mayor to Speak

In the night program, starting at 8 o'clock, a welcome address will be given by Mayor Earl M. Rosen, a

THEATER OPENING PLANS UNDER WAY

Date for First Show at New Palace Expected To Be Announced in Few Days

With final construction work now in progress, announcement of the date for opening of the new Palace theater, at West Center and Campbell sts., is expected within a few days.

This was indicated today by C. J. Wolf, president of the Young Amusement Co., and V. U. Young, secretary-treasurer and general manager, who are here to make arrangements for the opening. The Young Amusement Co., which is building the Palace, also operates theaters in several other cities.

Mr. Young, whose home is in Gary, Ind., will remain here until after the opening for the purpose of attending to all arrangement details. Mr. Wolf's home is in Wheeling, W. Va.

Main construction work of the Palace is practically finished and only the final details remain to be worked out to have the beautiful new playhouse in readiness for the first program. Exceptionally rapid progress has been made with the building work.

In connection with plans for the opening, large signs of artistic design advertising the theater are being erected on all main highways leading out of Marion. About 15 of these signs are to be installed in Marion county and surrounding territory.

The signs are of durable construction for permanent service and measure 12 by 20 feet. They advertise the Palace as "Marion's only atmospheric theater." The regular program of entertainment is designated as photoplays and vaudeville.

HEALTH OFFICIALS PLAN FAIR EXHIBIT

State To Co-Operate with County in Demonstration Here This Year

Assistance of the state department of health in staging a health exhibit at the Marion county fair has been obtained by Dr. N. Sifritt, county health commissioner.

The exhibit will be housed in a large tent and will consist of posters, placards, charts, motion pictures, and lectures on health subjects. The tent will accommodate 100 persons. Seats will be provided.

The state health department is sending a lecturer, a public health nurse and a motion picture projector operator.

A first aid station will be maintained in connection with the health exhibit, Dr. Sifritt said today.

NAAS MADE JUDGE

Columbus, Aug. 21—Appointment of John P. Naas, Dayton, to succeed the late Judge Alfred McCray on the Montgomery county common pleas bench was announced here today by Gov. A. Vic Donahey.

Hoover Meets Farm Problem Face to Face at Place of His Birth—West Branch

Thousands of Agricultural Leaders Throughout Grain Belt Expected To Hear Nominee Expound His Program of Relief; Goes on to Cedar Rapids Tonight

West Branch, Iowa, Aug. 21—Herbert Hoover, as Republican nominee for president, met the farm problem face to face today as he returned to the place of his birth.

Thousands of farm leaders from all sections of the grain belt gathered here to hear Hoover expound upon his program for the relief of American agriculture. The nominee was to move on to Cedar Rapids after the speech tonight to hold a series of conferences there with the farm leaders. At Cedar Rapids, during a two-day stay, he will participate in a farm parade, lunch with farm editors and attend a real old fashioned farmers' picnic.

At the end of the three-day visit to Iowa, the Republican nominee probably will have all the details of agriculture's problem. It was the hope of his advisers that while the farm leaders were discussing their problems with him, that his sympathetic attitude toward their situation would win them to the Republican cause. Thus far, the nominee has been successful to a remarkable degree in winning over those farm leaders with whom he conferred.

Hoover breakfasted in the house of his birth this morning, leaving his special train to visit the old homestead. He was accompanied by Mrs. Hoover and his two sons, Herbert, Jr., and Alan, besides a number of political advisers. During the morning, he visited with old residents of his birthplace, some of whom he recalled from his childhood days, and took another look at the fishing spots, swimming hole and hunting scenes of his youth.

COUNTY'S TAX TOTAL HIGHER THAN 1927

Last Collection Registers $7,000 Increase, Treasurer Reports

The June tax collection in Marion county, just completed by County Treasurer James E. Messenger, amounted to $1,048,147.69, according to a statement made by him today.

The collection just completed was approximately $7,000 higher than the June collection in 1927. The total a year ago was $1,040,446.77. The collection was boosted, Mr. Messenger said, by the payment of several thousand dollars in taxes unpaid last December.

Preparing Settlement

County Auditor Earl E. Thomas is preparing to make the tax settlement with the various taxing districts in the county.

All June taxes paid at the treasurer's office from now on are subject to a penalty of 10 per cent, according to Mr. Messenger. There is still a considerable amount of unpaid personal tax and unless this comes in within the near future the county treasurer expects to start legal action for its collection.

The collection just completed was for the last half of 1927. Taxes for the first half of 1928 will be collected in December.

Bank Collections

Banks in the county collected more than $100,000 of the June taxes, according to Mr. Messenger.

In a few cases checks were given in payment of taxes on which the treasurer has been unable to make collection at the banks. In cases of this kind the treasurer restores the taxes to the duplicate as unpaid.

RESTRAINS JUDGE IN WRIT ENFORCEMENT

D. C. Stephenson Loses in Effort To Gain Freedom from Prison

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 21—The Indiana supreme court has issued a writ of prohibition restraining John Richter, judge of the Laporte circuit court, from enforcing a writ of habeas corpus sought by D. C. Stephenson to gain his freedom from the state prison where he is serving a life term for the Madge Oberholtzer murder, it was learned here today.

The writ of prohibition was issued by Judge David A. Myers, chief justice of the state supreme court, on the application of Walter Daly, warden of the state prison, who was named as the defendant in Stephenson's latest legal effort to secure admission to bail or absolute discharge.

Justice Myers further commanded Judge Richter to appear before the Indiana supreme court at 10 a. m. Sept. 4 and show cause why the writ of prohibition should not be made permanent.

The action of the supreme court prevented contemplated action in the Laporte circuit court today on Stephenson's application.

NO RESULTS IN MURDER PROBE, POLICE REPORT

Mystery Surrounding Edwards st. Slaying Remains Unsolved

10 QUESTIONED

Authorities Conduct Examinations in Futile Effort To Identify Cargo Patsy Slayer

Mystery still surrounds the identity and whereabouts of an unknown young man who shot and instantly killed Cargo Patsy, alias Patsy Sciffa, 35, in the rear yard of the Rocco Sansotta home, 174 Edwards st., Sunday night, according to police today.

An examination of 10 persons by Prosecuting Attorney Frank Wiedemann and Chief of Police J. W. Thompson in the office of the prosecutor yesterday afternoon, failed to throw any light on the identity of Patsy's companion, who is believed by police to have shot Patsy following a visit at the Sansotta home.

Although those questioned, who included members of the Sansotta family and other persons who had known Patsy and had seen him in company with the alleged slayer, known only as "Tony," answered all questions asked by Chief Thompson and Prosecutor Wiedemann, no clue was obtained which established the identity of the slayer, the officials report.

Report to Coroner

The only report given to Coroner B. D. Osborne following the examination yesterday afternoon was an account of the testimony of Joseph Sansotta, who was at the house of his brother, Rocco Sansotta, at the time of the murder. Coroner Osborn was unable to be present at the examination.

According to the report Joseph Sansotta said that about 10 o'clock Sunday night the two men, whom he said he knew only as "Patsy" and "Tony," had entered the Sansotta home. The two men talked and joked with the father of the Sansotta brothers for a while and then without saying a word to any of the family, left the house by the rear door. A short time later, Sansotta said he heard three or four shots and when he went into the back yard he saw Patsy lying on his stomach. He then called a doctor and later the police, the report says.

An inquiry conducted by Prosecutor Wiedemann and Chief Thompson though the examination and other means has revealed that Patsy had been residing in Marion about two months. It was also learned that he had been released from the Dayton workhouse some time in February after serving a short term.

Not in Hiding Here

Belief that Patsy had been in hiding in Marion before the slaying, expressed yesterday by local police, was eliminated today following the examination of the 10 witnesses. Since his ar-

THREE COUNTRIES IN SEARCH FOR FLIERS

Mounted Police and Coast Guard To Make Special Search

Three countries—the United States, Canada and Greenland—are engaged today in search for Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, missing American fliers who became lost while attempting a flight from Canada to Sweden.

The Americans, who originally set out from Rockford, Ill., to fly to Stockholm, Sweden, were due at Mount Evans, Greenland, on Sunday morning. It was first believed that they had landed in some isolated spot on the Greenland coast, but when search failed to reveal any trace of them, the fear developed that they had been forced down somewhere in the Atlantic between the Canadian coast and the Greenland coast.

The Canadian government had instructed the mounted police and the coast guard stations along the Labrador coast to make special search for them.

The last heard of the airmen was on Sunday morning when they were 75 miles off Cape Chidley, on the Labrador coast.

BELIEVE HUNT WILL BE NOMINATED FOR SENATE

Columbus, Aug. 21—Prediction that the complete official count will show that Attorney Graham P. Hunt, Cincinnati, liberal, defeated U. S. Senator Cyrus Locher, Cleveland, dry, for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator, short term, by more than 600 votes was made this afternoon by state election officials at the secretary of state's office.

AL PRACTICES

Democratic Nominee Wears Bread Grin at Rehearsal "Mike"

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 21—Gov. Al Smith, his face wreathed in smiles, went through a dress rehearsal shortly afternoon today in preparation for the notification ceremonies tomorrow night when he will formally accept the Democratic presidential nomination.

Accompanied by two score newspapermen, the governor walked out of his private office in the executive chamber, down the wide front steps of the capitol, and, mounting the temporary rostrum, gave the amplifiers a thorough test.

H. M. TEMPLE RESIGNS POST WITH SCHOOLS

Local Music Supervisor Accepts Similar Position at Coffeyville, Kas.

Howard M. Temple, 483 Elmwood dr., today announced his resignation as supervisor of music in the Marion public schools. He will leave Friday or Saturday for Coffeyville, Kas., where he has accepted a similar position.

The resignation, tendered to Jesse H. Mason, school superintendent, was accepted. No provision has been made for filling the vacancy.

Mr. Temple also resigned his position as director of the Lecture Recital club of Marion.

As music supervisor in the Coffeyville schools Mr. Temple will direct the music in a junior college, two years of university work; a senior high school with a four-year course; junior high school with seventh, eighth and ninth grades; and the grammar school grades, first to fifth. He will have charge of five grade schools. He will also direct a boys' band of 60 pieces, supported by civic organizations, and will participate in community music work. He will have six assistants.

Mrs. Temple also tendered her resignation as chairman of the program committee of the Lecture Recital club.

CLAIMS FOR THRONE MAY CAUSE TROUBLE

Albania To Be First Country To Restore Monarchy Since War

Berlin, Aug. 21—Conflicting claims which may lead to international complications, are being put forward for the throne of Albania, where, for the first time since the war, Europe is about to witness the restoration of a monarchy.

Dispatches from Tirana today stated that demonstrations demanding the crowning of President Ahmed Zogu as king of Albania have broken out in all parts of the country, and that Zogu is scheduled to proclaim himself king within the next week. For four years Zogu has ruled Albania with an iron hand, and it is only a short step from his present dictatorship to monarchy.

Another claimant for the Albanian crown appeared today, however, in the person of Prince William of Wied, who ruled Albania for six months in 1914. Prince William accepted the Albanian crown at Neuwied, Germany, in February, 1914, after the independence of Albania had been proclaimed, and the London ambassadorial conference had agreed that a European prince be named to rule the new country. After the outbreak of the European war, Prince William and the members of the international control commission which aided him in the government, fled the country. German newspapers said today that Prince William had the first claim to the Albanian throne if a monarchy is restored.

FARMERS TO PLANT LESS WHEAT IN FALL

Acreage Will Be 13 Per Cent Under That Sowed Year Ago

Columbus, Aug. 21—Smaller wheat acreage will be planted this fall by Ohio farmers, reports to the U. S. department of agriculture, Ohio experiment station, indicate a statement issued here today revealed.

The intended acreage for 1928 planting, as shown by Aug. 1 reports, will be 13 per cent less than that planted in 1927. The total acreage in 1927 was 2,471,000; while that planned for 1928 planting is 2,149,000.

The statement declares that for the entire United States a 2.1 percent decrease in wheat acreage was indicated Aug. 1.

DEATH CLOSES BOOKS

Canadian Negro, Sought by Immigration Officials, Drowns at Defiance

Defiance, Aug. 21—Death by drowning today had closed the books of United States immigration officials in the case of Frank Leslie, 30, negro, alleged to have illegally entered the United States from Canada last Saturday with a circus troupe.

Leslie and 10 Canadians all members of the circus were being sought here yesterday by federal authorities, and during the circus parade the negro went swimming at Kingsbury park, where he was drowned when seized by cramps. Finances of difficulty in getting the machine carrying the rescue crew through the circus procession, Leslie was beyond aid when the crew arrived.

HARVEY DIES

GEORGE HARVEY

EXPRESS REGRET AT DEATH OF HARVEY

Former Ambassador to Court of St. James Stricken Suddenly

Dublin, N. H., Aug. 21—Messages of condolence from President Coolidge and scores of other notables reached Mrs. George Harvey today expressing sorrow at the death of her husband, former ambassador to the Court of St. James and famous as the maker of two American presidents.

The death of Colonel Harvey, resulting from a heart attack, was unexpected. He had been ill for a month at his summer home here from asthma and bronchitis, but had appeared to be on the road to recovery. He was stricken suddenly yesterday and died within a few seconds.

The famous publicist will be buried either tomorrow or Thursday at Peacham, Vt., where he was born 64 years ago.

Te funeral services will be extremely simple, according to present reports although details had not been completed early today, only a few close friends and relatives, it was decided, will attend the services.

Despite Colonel Harvey's physical condition, he had kept in close touch with the Republican presidential campaign and has held several conferences with eastern Republican leaders during the last three weeks.

COOLIDGE APPOINTS WHITING SECRETARY

Superior Wis., Aug. 21—President Coolidge today accepted the resignation of Herbert Hoover as secretary of commerce and immediately appointed William F. Whiting of Holyoke, Mass., to succeed him. Whiting, who had arrived in Superior unknown to other members of the party, was sworn into his new post in the office of the president by the clerk of the local court who was summoned over to the postal building by Mr. Coolidge.

The new secretary of commerce, who is 65 years old, is head of a big paper company in Holyoke.

He is a lifelong friend of the president and is generally credited with being one of the three men who have brought Mr. Coolidge's political career from the very start. His father served in congress a number of years.

PAPER MILL OWNER

Whiting Long Prominent in Politics of Massachusetts

Holyoke, Mass., Aug. 21—William F. Whiting, whose appointment to succeed Herbert Hoover, Republican presidential candidate, as secretary of commerce as announced today in dispatches from Washington, is owner and operator of the Whiting Paper Co. mills here.

He has long been prominent in Massachusetts politics although he has never held public office.

$19,000 IS OBTAINED BY 5 BANK BANDITS

Messengers Held Up While Leaving Bank; Robbers Escape

Chicago, Aug. 21—Five bandits held up two bank messengers here today, seized $19,000 in cash, and escaped in an automobile.

The messengers, Thomas Neary and Ole Peterson, were held up as they were leaving the bank. One of the bandits pointed a gun at the men as two others snatched the money satchel.

TO HONOR BENNETT

Los Angeles Will Fly Over Underworld, Pa., Flight Thursday

Washington, Aug. 21—The navy dirigible Los Angeles was ordered by the navy department today to fly over Underworld, Pa., Thursday during the dedication of the Floyd Bennett memorial air field. Early in the afternoon the ship will fly over Port Liverpool, Ohio, and then return to its headquarters, N. J., hangar.

A number of army and navy air corps officers will participate in the dedication of the field named for the navy pilot who died while taking aid to the crew of the Greenham transatlantic plane Bremen.

SEVEN KILLED, HUNDRED HURT IN TWO STATES

Freak Wind and Rain Storms Sweep Over Iowa and Minnesota

DAMAGE OVER $1,000,000

Corn and Grain Crops Nearly Ruined; Theater, Garage Destroyed

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Aug. 21—With wire communications being gradually restored, efforts were made today to check on the loss of life and property damage caused in sections of Iowa and Minnesota late yesterday by a series of freak wind and rain storms.

Seven deaths in the affected area were laid to violence of the storm. Three persons were reported killed at Clear Lake, Ia., while four others were reported killed near Austin, Minn.

Fifteen cottages were razed by the terrific wind at Twin Lakes and tremendous damage to crops resulted.

Rain of cloudburst proportions last night drenched flood-swept West Branch, Ia., where Herbert Hoover was to be feted today. According to reports from that section, roads were washed out and great damage was done to crops.

It was expected the damage to the roads will seriously inconvenience the motor cavalcades that had set out for West Branch to honor Mr. Hoover.

CROPS NEARLY RUINED

Corn Literally Cut to Ribbons By Hail Storm in Wisconsin

Ashland, Wis., Aug. 21—Hundreds of acres of corn and small grain were in near ruin today as a result of the violent rain and hail storm that swept this district late yesterday. The corn was literally cut to ribbons by the pelting hail stones. Many acres of smaller grain were flattened.

FOUR KILLED

Damage in Two Minnesota Counties Will Reach Millions

Austin, Minn., Aug. 21—Four persons were killed and at least 100 injured, some of them seriously, by the tornado that swept through two southern Minnesota counties late Monday afternoon before crossing into northern Iowa. Three were killed in Austin and a woman was killed at Glendale. Fifteen of the seriously injured are in Austin hospitals. Three are expected to die from their injuries. Property damage in Austin will reach $500,000. Damage to farm buildings, stock and crops in the two Minnesota counties will total about $1,000,000.

Hundreds of buildings were uprooted here as the funnel shaped cloud blazed its path through the business district.

The Park theater, a $250,000 building, and the Motor Inn garage directly across the street were virtually destroyed by the tornado.

Hundreds of theatergoers had just left a matinee performance at the Park theater when the storm broke. All escaped.

The Grand hotel, next to the Park theater, was unroofed, but no deaths or injuries occurred there.

WORK STARTED ON W. CENTER ST. BASE

South Side of Thoroughfare Expected To Be Open for Traffic Within Five Weeks

Workmen yesterday began laying the concrete base for the brick surface on the south side of West Center st.

The concrete mixing machine began operations at Garden st., and a short distance was completed before the day's work had ended.

According to plans as outlined by City Engineer T. B. Cathers, today, workmen will continue the laying the concrete east to Oak st., before the base on west end of the street is constructed.

Work of laying the brick on the concrete base will start in about 10 days, Cathers said. Applying of asphalt coating will follow immediately. The street will be opened for traffic within about five weeks, according to officials in charge.

Reconstruction of the corners of Orchard st. and Union st. at Center st. is now underway. Work of setting back the curb on the east side of Orchard st. from the side entrance of Hotel Harding to Center st., is nearly completed.

WILL KEEP "MUM"

British Government Will Not Make Public Points Final Note

London, Aug. 21—Despite the publication yesterday in Washington, that the naval agreement, the British government today announced its determination not to make public the terms of the new understanding with France until they are placed before the next meeting of the preparatory disarmament commission of the League of Nations for discussion by all members. It was stated in official quarters, however, that the agreement does not call for a naval holiday in the Mediterranean as was originally reported in Washington.

Marion Youngsters Invited to Join New Fife Band; Enrollment of 300 Expected

The Pied Piper of Hamlin had nothing on the music-lover who is coming to Marion, Saturday.

This modern piper, however, does not lead children astray—or wherever the youngsters of Hamlin were led—but will organize all available Marion kiddies who are willing and enthusiastic into what will doubtless be the youngest musical group ever heard here—The Marion Star Fife band.

All Marion children between the ages of 6 and 17 are invited to the Ackerman Piano Co., South Main st., or Dowler Piano Co., North State st., at 10 o'clock Saturday morning for first rehearsal of Marion's "Big Fife band."

W. K. Baxter, a New York band and orchestra director and representative of the Musical Education association, the organization sponsoring the movement, will act as organizer and director. An enrollment of about 300 is expected.

Fifes may be obtained at either store at any time for the nominal charge of 25 cents, a fee fixed simply to determine the sincerity of the young musicians. The fees will pay for the fife, music, lessons and marching practice. Youngsters are to obtain their instruments as quickly as possible to practice before the first lesson Saturday.

The fife band work will consist of at least four lessons. Marching practice and band training will be included in the work. For first rehearsal youngsters are asked to report at the place where they secured their fifes at 9 a. m. Saturday. Lessons will be given at this hour every Saturday morning.

Parents are invited to attend all the band rehearsals.

PYTHIANS DEFEAT MASONIC TEAM

WINNER OF SERIES TO SEEK CHAMPIONSHIP GAMES WITH EAGLES

Contests Will Settle Ownership of Fraternal Title in Marion

GET 11 HITS

Second Game Scheduled for Next Monday Night at Park

CANBY LODGE, winners of the Marion county K. of P. league pennant, gained a toe hold on new honors last night by defeating the Marion Masons, 5 to 2 at Lincoln park.

The contest was the first of a three-game series to settle the independent championship of Marion recreation ball circles. The Masons won the title of the inter-city Masonic league.

The series will probably take on a wider scope, it was learned today, with the winners challenging the Marion Eagles of the Commercial league. This series will decide the fraternal title of Marion.

Smashing out 11 hits, the Canby sluggers last night experienced no difficulty in grabbing off the initial contest with the Masons. Rice was touched freely throughout the game, with the victors being aided somewhat by two errors.

R. Peadon hurled a nice game, allowing but six hits. His teammates played good ball behind him, making one error with eight assists being credited up.

The second game of the series will be played next Monday night.

NEIMEYER DIRECTS EXHIBIT

DISPLAY OF SPORTING DOGS WILL FEATURE SHOW AT STATE FAIR

Fish and Game Department Section Greatly Enlarged This Year

O. H. Neimeyer, Prospect, deputy game protector of Marion county will have charge of the exhibition of sporting dogs at the Ohio State fair next week.

More than 100 dogs of the various hunting varieties will be included in display. Efforts are being made by the Marion county man to secure four dogs of each breed.

In a statement made today, Neimeyer said that dogs exhibited in the fish and game department's display will not be ineligible to participate in future shows of the American Kennel Club. The exhibit, he said, is not in any sense of the word a show as no prizes are offered and no entry fees charged. Its purpose is merely to give hunters good examples of the best types of dogs available for game purposes.

Neimeyer took charge of the exhibit last year when it was first started at the state fair. The display proved so popular that the section is being greatly enlarged for this year.

Concerning the exhibit the American Field says the following:

"Last year, while the Ohio State Fair was in progress, O. H. Neimeyer, who is one of the efficient officers in Ohio's fish and game department, took charge of an exhibition of sporting dogs which attracted considerable attention. So much so, indeed, that the state fair board has arranged to put this same kind of an exhibition on during the coming fair the latter part of this month, and to this end a special building will be arranged, new stalls and benches will be fitted up and, in fact, it is to be made one of the features of the fish and game exhibit. It is the intention of Mr. Neimeyer to have a group of four dogs of each of the sporting varieties to make up the exhibit. He will have charge of the bird dogs while E. C. Cook will look after the destinies of the various breeds of hounds. The desire is to procure four of each breed that approach as closely as possible to the correct type. No entry fees are charged and owners are requested to get into communication with O. H. Neimeyer at Prospect, O., as early as possible. The idea is to show the general public the best dogs of their kind, if that is possible. The exhibit is entirely independent of the regular A. K. C. show, which takes place on the grounds beginning August 28, but the sporting dog exhibit is a state affair and not under any other jurisdiction, hence owners with dogs that fit the requirements may act entirely independent of any other kennel organization when they put their dogs on exhibition here. There will also be a representation of the game birds and animals of the state of Ohio which will make up part of the exhibit and which should unquestionably be of great interest to all sportsman, not only of the Buckeye state, but for all who may happen to visit the fair."

Diamonds of practically every tint are found, but yellow stones are the most common.

John M'Graw Trades Young Hurler for Veteran Scott

CINCINNATI, Aug. 21—John McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, grabbed the baseball spotlight today with another one of his breath-taking deals in the thick of a hot campaign. He announced that Jack Scott, formerly a star with the New York club but since consigned to the minors and tagged as dead wood, has been secured from the Toledo club of the American Association in exchange for Bill Walker, promising young southpaw.

This same Scott made an amazing come-back with the Giants in 1922. Released by Cincinnati because of a sore arm, he was given a job by McGraw and helped to pitch the Giants to a championship. After the 1925 season Scott was traded to the Phillies, but lost his stuff and drifted back to Toledo. The Old Carolina farmer enjoyed a new lease on life this season, however, and McGraw believes he can again weave his wizardry over the big league sluggers.

Walker was sent to Toledo on option. Many baseball men declare the Denver recruit eventually will become a star of the first magnitude on the big-time circuit.

MATCHMAKER PLANS BANTAM TOURNEY

Bud Taylor To Give Up N. B. A. Title; Can't Make Weight

New York, Aug. 21—Matchmaker Jess McMahon of Madison Square Garden today was laying plans for a bantamweight elimination tournament as a result of Bud Taylor's voluntary surrender of his National Boxing Association bantamweight title. The Terre Haute battler who has been experiencing difficulty in making the 118-pound limit, informed McMahon that he intended to campaign as a featherweight in the future.

Entrants in the elimination tourney probably will include Bushey Graham, of Utica, N. Y., now generally recognized as the leading contender for the world's championship; Kid Francis, Italian boxer, and Al Brown, a negro.

GOOD GAME

Eagles To Play Shovels at Lincoln Wednesday Night

In the outstanding contest of the Commercial league engagements Wednesday night, the Eagles and Steam Shovel meet at Lincoln park. This fray will have an important bearing on the championship of the league as the Shovel can knot things up by winning.

Postponed games of July 27 will be played by other teams.

"NINA" WINS ANOTHER

London, Aug. 21—Another trophy today came into the possession of the owners of the American yacht Nina, which won the Fastnet cup in a 615-mile race from Cowes to Fastnet and back to Plymouth. The Nina was the recent winner of the Queen Victoria cup in the yacht race from New York to Santander. The American yacht Mohawk finishes second in the Fastnet race.

YOUNGSTERS DEFEAT CALIFORNIA RIDERS

Eastern Polo Stars To Play Winner of Southern Match in Finals

Cleveland, Aug. 21—Four furious riding youngsters, who compose the Point Judith, R. I., team were too much for the quartet of veterans who represent San Mateo, Cal., in a polo match here yesterday and as a result the Californians were eliminated from the national intercircuit polo tournament today. The easterners won, 7 to 5.

Two players on the Point Judith team are 18 years old and a third is 19. Their combined ages is thus 55, while one member of the San Mateo four—Hugh Drury, is 68. Drury has been playing polo for 40 years and his shots seemed just as straight and accurate yesterday as ever. His riding lacks the dash and abandon it once had, however, and it was here that the eastern youngsters showed their superiority.

Point Judith, in winning, took the right to play the winner of tomorrow's match between Ft. Riley, Kan., and Ft. Bliss, Tex., in the finals. At the Kirtland country club today, the Kirtland eight-goal team meets Ft. Hoyle, Md., in the first match of the eight-goal tournament.

PACES HEAVY WALLOP

Jersey City, Aug. 21—Corporal Izzy Schwartz, flyweight title-holder, is a champion with a wallop. "Busy Izzy" floored Felix Martinez for a count of eight in the second round of their scheduled 15-round go here last night and then knocked out the Spaniard in the next heat. A right to the jaw was the finishing wallop.

HOPES FOR BEST

New York, Aug. 21—Manager Miller Huggins of the New York Yankees hopes that Herb Pennock, star southpaw, who is suffering from neuritis in his good left arm, will be able to pitch by next Sunday. It is possible that the veteran may be kept idle for a longer period however, and Huggins is known to be dickering for an experienced minor league hurler.

PHILADELPHIA TAKES CUBS FOR RIDE, 11-6; GIANTS LEAD CARDS

Chi Proves Easy for Lowly Phillies, but Tough on McGrawmen

BROWNS BEAT A'S

Yankees Leading Mackmen by 5½ Games; St. Louis Wins Over Brooklyn

By LES CONKIN

NEW YORK, Aug. 21—The jinx, that peculiar phenomenon which folsts an inferiority complex upon an ordinarily powerful team when confronted by a certain opponent, is upsetting the pennant calculations of many a national league manager this season. St. Louis has the Indian sign on Pittsburgh, but is soft for the Giants. The latter also can "take" the Reds any time, but fall an easy prey to the Cubs in Chicago. And now, strangest of all, the Cubs are proving to be set-ups every time they face the lowly Phillies.

Philadelphia's 11 to 6 victory over Chicago yesterday marked the fifth successive time that the Quakers have taken the Windy City boys for a ride. They clubbed four Chi hurlers for 18 hits, including homers by Klein, Leach and Walsh. Hack Wilson of the Cubs contributed his twenty-eighth homer.

League Balanced

The league is now fairly well balanced as a result of the recent successes of the Phils and the Braves. The latter outslugged the Pirates yesterday, 14 to 11, in a three hour nightmare in which 36 hits were made. Pittsburgh's seven-run rally in the seventh was wasted.

St. Louis nosed out Brooklyn in the ninth, 2 to 1, snapping Dazzy Vance's six-game winning streak. Haines, who relieved Frankhouse is Vance's pet jinx, for he was the last pitcher to beat the Dazzler. The Robins got only four hits.

Giants Beat Reds

The Giants held on to their two-point lead, however, by gaining a 5 to 3 verdict over the Reds. Genewich and Risey did the throwing.

Connie Mack's speedy machine showed signs of cracking up when the St. Louis Browns pounded Ehmke, Bush and Rommel for nine runs in the last three innings, winning 9 to 2. O'Rourke and Manush each made four hits and then celebrated by staging a head-on collision in the field. O'Rourke was badly hurt.

The A's now trail the Yankees, who were idle, by 5½ games.

Walt Shires young first sacker from Waco, Texas, was a riot in his debut with the White Sox. He got four hits, enabling Red Faber to gain a 6 to 4 decision over Charley Ruffing of the Red Sox.

PLAN WELCOME

New York, Aug. 21—The American olympic team will be given a royal welcome by New York City tomorrow upon their return from Europe on the President Roosevelt. Medals will be presented to the victorious athletes, who will parade from the battery to city hall.

MILLER IS APPOINTED COACH AT NORTHERN

Kentucky Wesleyan Man To Succeed Dr. J. O. Newton at Ada

Ada, Aug. 21—Ernest R. Miller, Kentucky Wesleyan, has been chosen to succeed Dr. J. O. Newton as head of the department of physical education at Ohio Northern university, located here, it was officially announced today by Dr. Albert Edwin Smith of Ohio Northern.

Before going to Kentucky Wesleyan Miller was coach at Defiance college. He will assume his duties at O. N. U. with the opening of school in September.

Dr. Newton, who has headed the sports department of Ohio Northern for the past five years, is undecided as to further plans, he said today.

Public Utility Stocks Command Considerable Attention by Spurt

Markets at a Glance

Industrial stocks strong, domestic bonds firm, railroad stocks firm, call money 7 to 7 1-2, cotton irregular, grain irregular, oil steady, rubber steady, sugar steady, pig iron firm, foreign exchange irregular.

BY W. S. COUSINS
I. N. S. Financial Editor.

Wall Street wings in the best grade of industrial, mercantile and railroad stocks in the speculative market today stimulated a broad demand for the shares of American corporations, particularly the well-known money-makers in their respective fields.

From the bullish standpoint, it was a day of "good leadership" which is always of so great significance to a substantial movement of prices. It was also a day for the making of objectives by the market leaders, United States Steel finally pushing above 150, Montgomery Ward above 200, American Can and Corn Products to "new highs" for the year. The strength in steel common helped to buy up the market in all department, bringing to the front a number of stock groups that have been comparatively idle and dull of late, the most prominent of which was the public utilities.

There was no apparent change in the money situation, though the banks were reported moderately impaired in their reserve position at the reserve banks. Funds were attracted by the seven per cent rate from the western sections of the country, replacing the withdrawals by the city banks. The ruling rate was seven per cent. Business and industrial reports were practically unchanged, and bullish sentiment ruled in the big financial district.

The spurt in the public utility stocks was the opening gun for the bulls. Aggressive buying of National Power and Light, American Water Works and other well-known utilities forced prices a few points higher, but the move was quite plainly a "professional gesture" which may or may not have attracted an outside "following" to the manipulated stocks.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

A sluggish produce market yesterday brought but few changes on the local stands today.

A poor supply of peaches yesterday gave way today to a slight advance in the quotation on the imported variety. Tennessee and Georgia peaches were being quoted at five pounds for 25 cents, while yesterday dealers were asking 25 cents for four pounds. The advance is attributed to the low supply and the non-appearance of a fresh supply yesterday following a heavy sale Saturday.

Only a few varieties of vegetables and fruit supplies were replenished yesterday and dealers were selling, because of the demand, a poor supply left over from Saturday.

Even though one of the largest crops of blackberries is reported in Ohio, only a small supply is being noted on the Marion markets. The controversy between dealers and growers regarding the price for picking the berries and placing them on the market, still exists, according to local dealers. Growers find they are unable to pick the berries so that dealers will be able to place them on the market at a figure to insure ready sale.

Watermelons were included among the produce articles scarce on the local markets. Only a limited number was noticed. The price set last week, when a large supply was placed on the market, was unchanged with the scarcity of the melons today. Prices of 35 and 45 cents were asked for the melons today. Dealers are preparing to receive a supply of Indiana melons the latter part of this week. It is not likely, according to dealers, that many melons of other varieties will be seen on the Marion markets until the Indiana melons put in their appearance.

TODAY'S REVIEW OF YESTERDAY'S GRAIN

Chicago, Aug. 21—Under the influence of declining foreign markets and increased hedging pressure local wheat prices moved lower in yesterday's trade. Buying by holders of privileges finally checked the decline and the market finished 1⅝@2¼c off.

September corn continued to move up on short coverings aiding the December future, which had a heavy tone. This grain finished the session 1⅝c higher for the September to ½c lower. Oats were unchanged to ⅝c lower at the close and rye as 1¼@1¾c down.

Liverpool closed 1⅛@1¾d lower. While cables gave no other cause for the decline than continued favorable conditions for the crops of the world, they said the market was steady at the decline, owing to light shipments to the United Kingdom. Winipeg futures kept pace with Chicago's, closing 1¾@2⅝c lower. Buenos Aires was ⅞@1⅛c lower at midday.

No News in Wheat

Nothing new in the wheat situation having developed over the week-end, there was little demand for the scattered offerings by locals and commission houses. In addition to this pressure, the market was called upon to absorb some rather substantial hedging, which was attributed to the Northwest.

Weather conditions in the Northwest on both sides of the line were very favorable. Advices from across the boundary said harvesting is rapidly getting under way.

Export trade, still the only probable basis for an upward turn in prices, continued to prove a disappointing factor. Seaboard said the demand was only fair yesterday and sales of 250,000 bu in all positions were all that could be uncovered before trading closed.

Cash wheat trade was fairly active with general buying. The basis was firmer for choice red and hard varieties and steady for others. Prices ruled 1@2c lower. No boat sales. Sales to go to store, 165,000 bu.; bookings to arrive, 85,000 bu. The increase in the visible supply for the week was about as expected at 7,000,000 bu.

Corn Still Narrow

Corn continued to display an irregular, narrow trade. Short covering was the principal influence. This was offset by the selling on the bulges by commission houses. Country offerings were light. Cash premiums were unchanged. Sales to go to store, 1,000,000 bu.; bookings to arrive, 1,000,000 bu. The increase in the visible supply for the week was about as expected at 1,000,000 bu.

Oats Follow Corn

Oats followed corn in trade, with the market showing little independent action. Cash premiums were unchanged. Sales to go to store, 200,000 bu.; bookings to arrive, 200,000 bu. The increase in the visible supply for the week was about as expected at 1,000,000 bu.

Provisions Dull

Provisions were dull and featureless. Packers were inactive sellers on the bulges. Hogs were steady. Sales to go to store, 1,000,000 lbs.; bookings to arrive, 1,000,000 lbs. The increase in the visible supply for the week was about as expected at 1,000,000 lbs.

Smith Convinced He Has Shattered Editor White's Charges

ASSERTS RECORD IS "FIXED AND SECURED"

Declares Kansas and G. O. P. Committee Pursue Cowardly Course

AWAITS NOTIFICATION

One Hundred Thousand Democrats Expected in Albany for Event

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 21—Convinced that he has completely shattered William Allen White's charges that he is morally unfit to be the president of the United States, Gov. Al Smith today anxiously looked forward to his notification ceremony, set for 7 o'clock tomorrow night, when he will formally launch his campaign for the presidency.

Declaring that his record "as an opponent of immorality is fixed and secured," the Democratic nominee, in a formal statement, charged that White and the Republican national committee had pursued a "cowardly" course in attempting to picture him as a friend of the saloon, gambling and prostitution.

While the governor did not mention Rev. John Roach Straton by name, he told friends that his reply to White also could be taken as an answer to the New York City clergyman's charge that he was the "deadliest foe . . . in America today to moral progress." In answering White the nominee served notice on his moral critics as well as his Republican opponents that he did not propose to have the issues of the coming campaign befogged by a discussion of how he voted on legislation when he was a member of state assembly 20 years ago.

Out in Open

"I am glad to have this matter taken out of the whisper stage and put into the open; once and for all I shall meet it now," the governor declared. "I regard it as purely political and when the campaign begins, I do not propose to have the issues of that campaign befogged by controversy over irrelevent things, such as the discussion of my votes as a legislator for some 20 or more years ago."

White charged that Smith, when a member of the legislature, always voted to protect the saloon, gambling and vice. Before he sailed for Europe recently the Kansas editor retracted that part of his charge relating to gambling and vice. Subsequently, however, through Henry J. Allen, publicity director of the Republican national committee, he withdrew the retraction about gambling and prostitution.

Says Record Secure

"My record as an opponent of immorality is fixed and secure," Smith wrote in reply to White. "Publicly and by many letters in my possession, the late Rev. Canon John P. Peters, when chairman of the committee of 14, the leading anti-vice society of New York, repeatedly thanked me for my co-operation with that organization. No one in all of the 25 years of my public life has ever dared to make the vile suggestions which emanated from Mr. White, with the approval of Henry J. Allen, publicity director of the Republican national committee."

Then the governor trained his guns directly upon the Republican national committee. He said:

"What a cowardly course the Republican national committee pursued. It issued a slanderous statement through its official publicity bureau and then after its general publication in the press, attempted to evade responsibility by the childish claim that it had been given out by accident. That is not fair play."

Draws Sharp Fire

The governor asserted he was confident that the people of New York approved his legislative record or they would not have elected him four times to the governorship, something that has never been done before in the state's history. He added:

"I cannot, however, let go unchallenged the political attempt to tear down my character and reputation by seeking to align me on the side of opposition to the regulation of the liquor traffic and in favor of gambling and prostitution."

White's charge that Smith's record showed him to be a friend of prostitution drew his sharpest fire. He said this charge was based upon a bill which would have prevented the renting of a hotel room twice in one night. After pointing out that this bill, which he voted against, was first defeated and then later passed for "political expediency" by the Republican legislature, the governor wrote:

"On this bill and this single bill alone, William Allen White would have my wife, my children and my friends believe that in my long public career I was a friend of public prostitution."

Denounces Attack

After explaining each legislative measure referred to by White, the governor concluded:

"I denounce as unfair, unmanly and un-American this slanderous attack upon me and my record. I have the satisfaction, however, of knowing that it is not concurred in by the people of my own state who have year after year expressed their confidence in me, notwithstanding that a large part of this matter herein referred to was laid before them in the past by agents of my political enemies. I am sure that I am right when I say it is not concurred in by the fair-minded, intelligent thinking people of the country.

"I have been called by my party to the leadership in a great campaign. I am hoping to be put in a position to do for the people of this country what I have accomplished for the betterment of the government of my own state and from now on I shall refuse to be drawn into any further discussion of thee matters.

Expect 100,000 Democrats

In formally accepting the nomination the governor's confidants predict that he will state his views so clearly on every major campaign issue that they cannot be misunderstood or misinterpreted.

Prohibition is expected to be one of the high spots in the acceptance speech. The governor already has said that he will "clearly and unmistakably" express his views on this subject.

The vanguard of 100,000 Democrats, who are expected here for the notification is due in Albany today. The city already is decked out in its holiday clothes while the east steps of the capitol, where the notification meeting will be staged, have been transferred into an open air theater.

Expense Accounts Ranging Up to $736 Are Reported to Local Election Board

Mouser, Nominee for Congress, and Candidates for Various County Offices File Statements Showing Cost of Primary Campaign; Winners and Losers Included

It cost Grant E. Mouser jr. $736.27 to conduct his campaign for the Republican nomination for congress in the Eighth district, according to his expense account filed yesterday afternoon with the county board of elections. Mouser's campaign was successful, his vote being about double that of his nearest opponent, George B. Knapp.

In his expense account Mouser listed campaign contributions of $35.

A number of other candidates filed expense accounts yesterday.

Mike Rider, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for the sheriff nomination, spent $50.64.

William M. King, Republican nominee for county commissioner, spent $72.70 in his campaign.

D. L. Augenstine, unsuccessful candidate for nomination to the office of state representative on the Democratic ticket, spent $39.20.

Horace W. Cookston, who won the Republican nomination for state representative, spent $51.50.

Charles L. Rinker, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for the clerk of courts nomination spent $36.50.

M. L. Wilson, unsuccessful Republican candidate for the probate judge nomination, spent $168.14.

Jacob H. Bollinger spent $67.88 in his unsuccessful campaign for the Republican nomination for clerk of courts.

Carl H. Tozer, unopposed Democratic candidate for the nomination for county surveyor, spent $30.85 in his campaign.

Robert G. McMurray, unopposed Democratic candidate for the county coroner nomination, spent $10.

Alfred Donithen, unopposed Republican candidate for the nomination for prosecuting attorney, spent $34.92.

Oliver M. Bush, unsuccessful candidate for the county treasurer nomination on the Republican ticket, spent $81.76.

Ora M. Baldinger, unsuccessful in the race for the Republican nomination for representative to the general assembly, spent $34.62 in his campaign.

Charles H. Conley, who won the Democratic nomination for probate judge, spent $90.61.

Harry G. Baker, the Democrats' choice for clerk of courts nominee, spent $63.88, his account shows.

GIVES SERMON

Rev. W. H. Howard is Speaker at Weekly Union Church Service

Before a fairly well-filled auditorium Sunday night at Epworth M. E. church, the Rev. W. H. Howard, pastor of First United Brethren church, spoke at one of the closing union church services this year. His subject was "Christ's Constraining Love."

Music was furnished by the quartet of Epworth M. E. church assisted at the organ by Miss Maye Evangeline Lawrence, church organist. Dr. B. L. George, Epworth pastor, was assisted in conducting the service by the Rev. Karl W. Patow and the Rev. John A. Carriker.

"The Love of Christ Constraineth Us" was the text chosen by Mr. Howard. "The love of Christ is a subject that has a prominent place in revelation. It is the very essence of glory of the gospel," he said in part. "It is the kernel of salvation, of universal interest, and heaven and earth are deeply concerned about it. It is a subject of boundless magnitude and importance. The Apostle Paul felt its power, preached it, believed it and glorified in it. The shedding of blood was the result of its preciousness."

HOLDS CLASS OUTING

Members of Green Camp Reformed Group and Guests Go to Falls

Green Camp, Aug. 21—Members of the Y. C. W. class of the Reformed church motored to Hemlock Falls east of Bellville Sunday and enjoyed a picnic and sight-seeing tour. Guests in the party were: Mrs. Cregor Chirp, of Bellville; Eula Bricker, of Mansfield; Marie Harper, of Indianapolis; Mary Penry, of Marion; Mildred Seiter, of Pleasant; Mrs. Blanche Dutton, of Agosta; Mrs. Mabel Bricker, of Green Camp. Class members present were: Misses Iva and Gertrude Jacobs, Wilda Reichardt, Esther Haberman, Margaret Loos, Gladys Bricker, Messrs. Milton Ruth, Chester Graham, Calvin Zeis, Clifford Smith, Marion Harper, Robert Huffman, Arthur Dennison, Clifford Reichardt and Stanley Bricker.

OUT-OF-TOWN RELATIVES AT ANNIVERSARY DINNER

Green Camp, Aug. 21—The following relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Osborn of River rd., Saturday evening in honor of Mr. Osborn's birthday anniversary. Dinner was served at 6 o'clock. Covers were placed for the honored guest, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Treece, of Mt. Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Schaffer, daughter, Helen, son, Paul, of Gambier; Mrs. Ida Ruhl and daughter, Ruthella, of Akron; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Osborn and Gwendolyn Austin, of Marion; Mr. and Mrs. Carey Osborn, son, Pearl, of Green Camp.

AIR MAIL TO BRING U. S. MUCH FOREIGN BUSINESS

Chicago — Air mail has not only brought New York and the middle West within ten hours of each other with only 31 hours separating the Atlantic and the Pacific, but American business men will soon have overnight markets in Canada and Mexico.

According to the American Air Port Association, before the first of the year it will be possible to send mail and express to Montreal and Mexico City by air routes.

The Association points out that the good speed of the air mail will make the customer in Canada and Mexico write to American firms about the communication of "yesterday" and not "your letter of last week."

Kadgar Grotto Planning Trip to State Meeting

Kadgar Grotto, of this city, will send a large delegation to the Ohio State Grotto association meeting to be held at Cedar Point, Thursday and Friday, according to announcement made by John T. Gance, monarch of the local organization.

George R. Hoffman, of the Lucas county board of commissioners and past monarch of O-Ton-Ta-La Grotto of Toledo, will preside at the sessions of the state Grotto meeting. Hoffman is vice president of the association and will preside for Dr. J. W. Sterling, of Cleveland, the association's president, who is in Europe.

Scott Krause, of Columbus, is second vice president; Amos H. Englebeck, of Akron, third vice president; H. H. Hampton, of Warren, secretary-treasurer, and W. C. Schmidt, of Cleveland, sergeant-at-arms.

Convention sessions will be held at The Breakers at Cedar Point. The convention parade will be held at Sandusky, Friday morning. Many branches of the order will have their bands, patrols, drum corps and other uniformed bodies in the line of march making one of the most colorful displays in the state.

Officials of Singara Grotto, of Sandusky, are preparing to entertain 20,000 visitors, as this convention ranks next to the national Grotto convention in size. The crack patrol of Yusef Khan Grotto, of Akron, which won first prize at the national convention, will give an exhibition drill. This will afford many Ohioans their first chance to see the prize winners perform.

BERLIN'S "SEASON" TO OPEN ON MAY 12, 1929

Berlin—The proposal to establish "a season" in Berlin could not be carried out this year, but the first one has now been definitely set for the month from May 12 to June 12, 1929.

Its main feature will consist of special operatic and concert performances by Germany's most prominent artists. There will also be noteworthy art exhibitions.

THERE CAN BE NO QUESTION LATER

When You Pay a Bill by Check, the Cancelled Voucher is Legal Proof of Payment

THERE'S no fuss or argument about disputed payments, for everything's down on paper where it belongs. The written record is quickly available and settles the question forever. Proof of payment is only one of many direct advantages of checking service.

Your money is handled without risk when you pay by check. A few minutes at your desk replaces the hours of running about and waiting if you paid in cash. Think what this one phase of the service means to you.

Men of affairs pay by check and you take your rightful place among them when you use your bank's full service. Your bank connection gives you added prestige, and it brings you and your banker into friendly contact. He can help you in matters of finance, business or personal, and will welcome the opportunity.

A checking account visualizes your expenses. You can see where every penny goes and control expenditures more easily. Your payments can be for the exact amount. No chance for errors in change.

The greatest benefits to you are realized when you keep an adequate reserve regularly on deposit. Then you have money, instantly ready for every opportunity to profit, ready to protect you in emergency.

Other Benefits

Your surplus funds go to help carry on the industries, public utilities, building construction and retail institutions. As they prosper, the community prospers and your own money pays you another profit.

An adequate balance serves you directly in several ways, and again through community prosperity. Build your checking reserve so that you may receive the full earning power of your money.

BUSINESS SESSIONS FOR LEGION TODAY

Syria and Shelby Win Honors in Drum Corps Contest

Columbus, Aug. 21—Members of the American Legion holding their state convention here this week scheduled to get down to business" today after a gala day of band concerts, parades and events yesterday. Between 10,000 and 20,000 legionnaires are visitors in the city.

In the drum corps contest yesterday following the parade, Elyria Post, No. 12, won and O'Brien Post No. 326 of Shelby was awarded second prize. The Elyria drum corps was given a silver loving cup and Shelby musicians a silver plaque.

The real award for winning the contest will be the trip to the national convention of the American Legion at San Antonio in October with all expenses paid by the state orgaization.

AID MEETS

LaRue Church Group Members Are Guests of Mrs. Lawrence Tilton

LaRue, Aug. 21—The Ladies' Aid society of the M. E. church met with Mrs. Lawrence Tilton Wednesday afternoon. The meeting opened with a song followed by scripture reading by Mrs. Wilton Fields. Mrs. A. Scott and Mrs. T. L. Shirk offered prayer. Miss Hezelith Tilton closed the program with a few piano selections. Refreshments were served during the social hour. The next meeting will be Sept. 5 with Mrs. Wilton Fields.

ARE DINNER HOSTS

LaRue Couple Celebrates Silver Wedding Anniversary With Social Affairs

LaRue, Aug. 21—Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Metz entertained members of the Ladies Embroidery club and their husbands, and a few close relatives and friends at a dinner reception Friday evening on the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage.

Little Miss Juanita Burdge, of Forest, attended the door as Mr. and Mrs. Metz welcomed the guests in rooms decorated with silver crepe paper and tinsel.

As they entered the dining room they were served the punch by Mrs. G. B. Hewetson, of Marion, which was followed by a dinner.

The tables were decorated in green, pink and white and favors were silver candles in a crystal holder. The silver tone was carried out with table appointment.

Those who assisted were Misses Erdine and Imogene Metz, Marion Davis, Jennie Isabelle Burdge and Mrs. Ray Burdge.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Alva Carey, Mr. and Mrs. Don Clements, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Clifton, Mrs. L. L. Aller, Mrs. Clara Davis, Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Drake, Mr. and Mrs John Ault, Mr and Mrs. C. M. Tannhill, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Radger, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hoagland, Miss Marion Davis, Clarke Metz and Misses Erdine and Imogene Metz of LaRue; Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Bonner, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Sizer, Mr. and Mrs. G B. Hewetson, Leonard Metz and Clarence Nash, of Marion, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Burdge and daughters, Jaunita and Jennie Isabelle, of near Forest.

Mr. and Mrs. Bonner were the only ones present who were present at the marriage 25 years ago.

Mrs. C. M. Tannyhill presented Mr. and Mrs. Metz a gift from the club members.

Ritzy Rosalie

THE latest edict of fashion concerning garters is that they should exactly match the hose; and Rosalie is, of course, conforming to this. Not only that, but garters should now be extremely narrow, and center and less elaborate decorations adorn them. Since beige continues to be the predominating color in hose for fall, many garters will be in that shade. Forecasts have it that browns will predominate during the coming season, which accounts for the continuance of beige as the favorite color for hose.

JUST HOMESICK

So Youth Who Robbed Camera Goes Back to Cincinnati

Cincinnati, Aug. 21—Because he was "just plain homesick," Nicholas Piccirollo, 17, occupied a jail cell here today.

Piccirollo confessed to detectives that he and a companion held up the Bardes Range Co., July 20 last and escaped in an automobile. His share of the loot was $850 and he said that he had spent all of it on clothes, railroad fare and race horses.

After wandering around through Kentucky, he went to Cleveland where the pangs of Nostalgia urged him homeward. He returned here and voluntarily confessed to detectives.

CHURCH GROUP TO BACK PROHIBITION CANDIDATES

Sabina, O., Aug. 21—Support of only those candidates for state and national offices who are "four-square" behind the enforcement of prohibition, was the recommendation to the young people of Ohio in a resolution announced here today by members of the Young Peoples' union of the Methodist Protestant church, which closed its conference yesterday.

The annual conference of the Methodist Protestant church of Ohio was scheduled to open here tonight for a week's session. Those who will take part include the Rev. A. J. Allman, Mechanicsburg, who will deliver the conference sermon; Rev. C. H. Beck, Tiffin, who will conduct holy communion; Rev. D. C. Coburn, Columbus, who will preside at the memorial services; and Rev. G. H. Miller, Cambridge, who will preside over mission sessions.

Daily Proverb—"Where the hedge is lowest, the devil leaps over."

In her assertion that she's "a working girl," Texas Guinan will probably have the concurrence of all the "suckers" she has worked.

Rattlesnakes measuring almost seven feet in length are being killed down in Virginia. Think of living in a state afflicted with such snakes—and the great snake-bite remedy barred by law!

One might assume from the course he is pursuing that Governor Smith labors under the impression that he can make a successful national campaign by discussing New York state issues.

Lord Balfour says that "seeing has not only ceased to be believing, but is in open revolt against it." Certainly this British lord's statement can not possibly have any connection with the girls' short skirts.

Henry Ford says the nation is too fast to be wet. Many arguments for a dry land have been offered, but it is open to question if any of them has anything on this offered by Mr. Ford in today's wild race for speed.

A wireless from the Ile de France says Secretary of State Kellogg is thoroughly enjoying his trip, reading detective stories and tales of adventure. Here we have a liking of the secretary not generally known and one that will give him appeal to the average man.

If a news story out of Denver may be credited, the case against Henry M. Blackmer, the oil man whose extradition from France is being sought for alleged perjury in connection with his income tax report, is based upon statements secured through the abduction of his young woman secretary. The methods used in obtaining evidence in oil cases do not appear to vary greatly from those pursued in liquor cases.

Husbands given to untidiness about the home might well consider the case of the Chicago man who was asphyxiated as the result of tossing his garments about as he undressed. His trousers caught upon a gas jet, turning on the fumes.

Henry Ford says that "up to the age of forty a man is in training—every man is; he is assembling tools with which to work." If Mr. Ford is right, it hardly looks like good horse sense to limit the trained man in the use of the tools he assembles during the long period of his training by stopping him at a point in his life's journey arbitrarily fixed in advance.

Dr. John Roach Straton says that, if Governor Smith doesn't debate with him where he, Straton chooses, he will brand the Democratic candidate as a coward. Some good friend should tip the governor off to the fact that even a fate like that would be better politics than playing into the hands of publicity-seekers.

From Wisconsin comes a report of an active demand for farm help in that state. The truth is that all the northern grain-growing states have grown such crops this year that the problem of getting manual aid to husband them has caused them to forget for the timebeing, at least, the legislative aid the politicians have been promising them.

An official Nipponese survey shows that the wealth of Japan has increased in the last fifteen years a little over 70,000,000,000 yen, or $35,000,000,000. Japan, it may be remarked, was one of the few nations which gained enormously in a financial way as a result of the war without suffering any financial loss worth mentioning.

A Splendid Flight.

Arthur Goebel finished a non-stop flight from Los Angeles to New York, Monday morning, making the trip in nineteen hours and two minutes, thereby clipping seven hours and forty-eight minutes off the transcontinental record held by Lieutenants MacReady and Kelly.

Such has been the development of the airplane in recent years that it was to have been expected that the record of the two young officers would not long stand, but it could hardly have been anticipated that it was so soon to be shattered as it was and the crossing time cut by over twenty-five per cent.

It is just possible, however, that Goebel's flight represents more than the development of the airplane during the last few years. Goebel was the winner of the Dole flight to Hawaii. It may be that he puts something of himself into his flights and thus gets more out of a machine than the average flier. There are men like that—men who can get better returns from mechanical things than the ordinary run of men can attain—and Goebel may be one of them.

In any event, the flight was a splendid one and Goebel may well be proud of his achievement.

Drinking by Americans Abroad.

That there is an appreciable decrease in the drinking of Americans abroad of wines and hard liquors was one of the interesting bits of information given New York City dock reporters by Mrs. Ella Boole, president of the National Women's Christian Temperance union, when she returned on the last westward trip of the George Washington from attendance at the world congress of the union held in Lausanne, Switzerland.

So marked has been the change in the drinking habits of Americans traveling in Europe, Mrs. Boole said, that it is not only recognized by those who cater to the traveling public, but also by Europeans generally. She told the reporters that where formerly it was difficult to get a glass of drinking water on the "Continent," carafes of water are now seen everywhere on the tables in hotels, restaurants and dining cars, and she noted a great increase in tea-drinking.

American tourists, the temperance leader went on to say, indulge in other drinks beside tea and coffee, but there is far less drinking of intoxicating liquors than there had been on the occasions of former visits to Europe made by her.

It may be said, in this connection, that the observations of Mrs. Boole are very generally confirmed by other Americans returning from European visits, save possibly those who go over in large part to satisfy their liking for alcoholics. The latter class naturally spend much of their time in places where the serving of drinks is a specialty and naturally their view would be that there has been no shrinkage in the volume of liquor consumed by Americans abroad.

Assuming that Mrs. Boole is right in her view, and it may be accepted on the strength of collateral testimony as a safe assumption, what may we take this change in the course of Americans in regard to the consumption of intoxicants to indicate?

What else than that the great body of Americans who travel abroad have gotten away from the habit of drinking intoxicants? What else but that they have become so accustomed to going without intoxicants that they have no desire to drink them when they are at hand and may be legally consumed?

It is always possible, of course, that many Americans drink far more water than formerly and that those who formerly drank intoxicants and now drink water feel better for the change. If they do not note something of an improvement in a physical way as a result of the substitution of water as a beverage for intoxicants it would be something of a miracle.

In any event, no matter what the reason may be, there is no question but what Americans traveling abroad, regardless of their habits at home, are drinking less wine and hard liquors and are consuming more water than formerly, which may be taken to indicate that a lot of them aren't really so desirous of drinking as they thought they were and are becoming accustomed to the change in conditions, and this must be taken as a distinct gain for the cause of temperance.

A retired railroad worker of New York is reported to have celebrated the hundredth anniversary of his birth, a day or two ago, by announcing that he was looking for his third wife and preferred some young woman with red hair. It's a pity that such an ago is not sufficiently respected to prevent crediting them with speeches indicating the effect of the many years they have passed.

Daily air passenger service in connection with railroad service was inaugurated yesterday between Chicago and St. Louis and between Chicago and the Twin cities, St. Paul and Minneapolis. The east-and-west schedules are three hours, and the north-and-south, three hours and a half, which more than cuts the railroad time in half—and gives the average air patron that much more time in which to tire himself out after he reaches his destination.

An Organization of Youth.

We hope that the members of the Kappa Alpha Phi assembled at Hotel Harding in national convention are enjoying pleasant and profitable sessions, and that the program of entertainment offered them will prove pleasing throughout.

Such associations of youth as that assembled here in delegate gathering should work for good. For years such organizations were limited to the youth of colleges and high schools, but that time has passed, and today we have with us representatives of an organization of non-collegians. And it's good to have these young men with us. It's good to see bright young faces, alive to the affairs of life. It's always well in looking upon youth to remember that those of more mature years represent the past, while youth is the promise of the future; that it is only by mingling with youth that we who are looking back over the past can get an insight into the years to come.

Having gone through July and well into August, the paragraphers had just begun to feel safe in commenting on the fact that the English channel hadn't been cluttered up with swimmers this summer, when an English girl goes out and spills the beans, crossing in a trifle less than twenty hours. 'Twas ever thus.

The receipts of the Mexican government for the first six months of the present fiscal year exceeded the estimates by $5,000,000. Mexico may not be overly strong in stability of government, but she certainly has some one in her department of finance who is some artist as a figurer.

A New York policeman was shot on his beat by a gunman using a silencer on his pistol as the car in which the gunman and three companions were riding dashed past him. So long as gunmen are content to shoot each other the public is inclined to remain passive, but when they begin to shoot down policemen in the streets of our cities it's about time for the public to awaken to the growing menace of the criminal world to all government.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Psoriasis is a skin disease that takes the form of a localized patch of scaly skin on a red base. It is sharply defined at the edges. The patch is not, unlike a scald of the skin upon which white scales have been spread.

The accepted view today is that these patches are the result of some sort of food-poisoning, the failure of proper elimination of some given element in the bodywastes, or to an infection from some pus center. Just why the skin poisoning should take this form nobody knows.

We are a long, long way from knowing a lot of things. This need not be discouraging. The commissioner of patents recommended to congress fifty years ago that the bureau of patents be abolished, because, he said: "Everything has been invented that the mind of man can possibly think of."

Think of the things which have been invented in the past fifty years—the electric light, the telephone, automobile and airplane, the tractor, the radio. During the next fifty years, I have no doubt greater wonders will be revealed.

In the field of medicine wonderful discoveries will be under control. The span of life will be materially extended.

The skin diseases are puzzling. Take hives, for instance, why do those swollen spots come after eating certain foods? I know a girl who would have giant hives if she took a single drop of cream.

Whenever the nose, the bend of the cheek, or some other area, is the seat of repeated pimples, swellings, redness, scaliness or itching, there must be two conditions present. There is a local weakness, which may be due to an unperformed function of the skin, and then there must be some irritant or exciting substance, which comes through the circulation.

Of course there is a further possibility—that the irritation comes without, possibly from some unconscious habit.

But you can see how difficult it is to explain rationally these mysterious skin disturbances. The best thing to do, however, is to search the body in an attempt to discover any local infection which may exist and, failing in this, to eliminate one after another the articles of food which may be responsible for the trouble.

Your doctor will advise you as to the remedies required. But you will help him by studying your own habits to see if anything you do may be responsible for the symptoms.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

M. E. A. Q—In what way is scarlet fever contagious?

A—It may be carried by clothing for a short period of time, but is usually contracted by direct contact.

Old Jail of Oporto.

BY TEMPLE MANNING.

The picturesque old jail of Oporto is a picture right out of the Middle ages. It crowns the left of the two hills up and around which the city of Oporto clings like a limpet, a gaunt square, gray stone building crumbling with age, with narrow slit windows. It is the city jail of the Wine City. Centuries have left it unmarked, still dominating the red roofs and narrow streets facing the old fort across the river, where the Duke of Wellington made his headquarters during the Peninsular war.

They keep it pretty well occupied, too, for when politics get a little too fiery, in Portugal, the police round up the cafes!

The prisoners may arrive in motor cars, but progress has not halted one thing which makes Oporto's prison the quaintest I have ever seen—from outside, of course.

From the narrow iron-barred cell windows, the prisoners dangle small canvas bags on the end of strings to the passers-by for money, food and cigarets. And what is more, they get them!—Copyright, 1928, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Editorial Opinion.

HIGH COST OF EXPLORATION.

Human courage and daring are prime requisits in the business of exploring, but the preparations for the Byrd South Polar expedition indicate that the "almighty dollar" will play a big part. The cost of the trip is likely to run into seven figures and the minimum amount needed in cash and supplies is already estimated at $855,000, with the end not in sight. Commander Byrd's trip to the North pole cost the paltry sum of $140,000, so the forthcoming exploration takes rank as the most expensive ever undertaken. The explanation is not hard to find. Commander Byrd has always stressed the necessity for adequate preparedness, and in the light of modern needs adequate preparedness for almost anything is a costly process.

No less interesting than the huge sums already acquired has been the variety of their source. Amounts in cash ranging from a few to many thousands of dollars have been received. Something of the spirit which prompted their giving is demonstrated by the $1,500 turned over by Miss Amelia Earhart. This money was received by "Lady Lindy" for indorsing a cigaret. She was willing to run the risk of criticism of her ethical conduct as a famous person by resorting to a pronounced commercialization of her heroism. But she did it unselfishly, and in a good cause. And more than half of the total amount so far contributed has been in the form of equipment. The furriers of New York, for instance, entertained Commander Byrd at luncheon and presented large supplies of fur clothing for the explorers, and Commander Byrd, in return, paid a tribute to the merits of fur as against wool in keeping the human body warmly protected against the elements. Three thousand dollars' worth of medical equipment, including straitjackets, has been donated. While the universal hope is that the straitjackets will go unused and will be returned to the donors as good as new, no one can discount the importance of taking them along as a guard against eventualities. The straitjacket item is a fairly good illustration of the completeness of the preparations.

With the dismally spectacular fiasco of the Italia's North pole trip still fresh in mind, one is made doubly conscious of the opportunities for failure on the part of the Byrd explorers, and one may sympathize readily with Commander Byrd's insistence upon complete and careful preparations. But while much of the responsibility that rests on his shoulders may be relieved by these preparations, no amount of money or equipment can spare him the delicate task of wisely handling and commanding the resources placed at his disposal. Failure to reach the goal he has set will not mean the failure, from a scientific standpoint, of the expedition. But failure on his part as a commander, the wrong decision at the wrong time, can make a million dollars shrink to three cents in less time than it takes to tell it. And the million dollars is a small item, indeed, compared to the human lives and reputations that are likewise at stake. No one grudges Commander Byrd his million dollars' worth of preparedness.—Washington Star.

STILL SEARCHING.

The world has given up hope for Roald Amundsen and his French comrades who flew into the death-grip of the Arctic in hope of finding and rescuing the survivors of the Italia. But the French and the Norwegians are still searching, and in this work they are to be aided by the Russians, who did such heroic work in saving the Italians.

For Nobile the story is told. Back among his countrymen he and his rescued subordinates are honored as national heroes. But Norway and France still have to search for their heroes, or for some trace to indicate how these heroes died.

It is unfair to blame Nobile offhand for the Italia disaster. Polar flying is still admittedly in its experimental phase. Unforseen conditions brought about a catastrophe which human skill could not have prevented.

But while withholding censure from Nobile it is possible to sympathize with the Norwegians who are perhaps illogically resentful that Nobile is safe and sound while their Amundsen, greatest of all living explorers, is lost. The man who made the northwest passage, who located the north magnetic pole, who discovered the South pole, and who made an aerial flight of the North pole, is justly regarded as the foremost figure in the field of polar adventure. And until they find some trace of Amundsen the Norwegians will not give up the search. Nor will the French desist from their efforts to ascertain the fate of the Frenchmen who accompanied the great explorer. Even a definitely tragic "finis" is preferable to suspense and uncertainty.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Earth Movements.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.

The geologist wanders over the earth and wonders how most people can be so indifferent to the plain signs, which he sees everywhere, of irresistible and magnificent forces constantly playing over the broad face which our planet presents to the sky, and transforming its expressive features. To him the earth appears to heave and groan, rather ecstacy than in torment, for the life of a planet thrills in the outgushing of volcanic lava and the shiver of earthquakes.

Lately Professor Bailey Willis, president of the Geological Society of America, has recounted in an address to fellow geologists some of the fruits of his observations on all sides of the globe, and listening to him one can perceive something of the delight arising from such studies—a little inhabitant of this great globe—for after all it is great to our eyes—strolling over its surface, eager with intellectual curiosity to find out how it is made and why it is at once so quiet and so restless; examining the mountains to see if they are still growing, as some are, or are only wearing away, as other are, to level the land and fill the sea, and make room for new geological dispensation.

He looks over the eastern shore of the Asiatic continent and sees how Japan was formed, and out of what mighty contention of horizontal thrusts and vertical risings, of complexly folded Paleozoic sediments, and "injected tongues of granite," its central spine in the northern island has emerged. He sees how "an active force had come from the Pacific" and arched up a Paleozoic mass. A Paleozoic "geosyncline" was followed by a Cretaceous one, and that by a Territary one. "The fourth, or Pliocene trough," he says, "has not yet been folded."

So earth history as well as human history is still in the making; only the one takes such long steps that the other can not even trot along by its side, and men are only able through the magnifying power of the scientific imagination to understand how the stage on which they act their little parts is heaving, sinking, cracking and bursting with the unceasing strain of geologic forces.

One does not wonder that Japan is frequently disturbed by earthquakes when he reads Professor Willis's description:

"The presence of folds en echelon, especially in the newer Japanese arcs, points to their lying in the shear zone between two rounded disc-like blocks—the one under the Pacific and east of northern Japan, the other under the Asiatic continent. The rotation of both blocks in a clock-wise direction has developed the shearing and folding en echelon between them. The location of granite intrusions in northern Japan was determined by tension."

This idea of vast subterranean "discs" rotating, one might say like stupendous millstones, and wrenching and heaving the face of the earth, reappears in what Professor Willis says regarding the stepped "faults," dipping east along the eastern front of our own Sierra Nevadas. He considers them as superficial slides into the eastern basin, "the tilting of the mountain having been accomplished by rotation of the mountain block on a rounded base by a horizontal force from the west."

Meditating on these things, one may easily overpaint the picture of subterranean conditions that they suggest; for after all most of the inhabited part of the earth is a pretty quiet abode for short-lived creatures, though there is an element of suspense in Willis's opinion that destructive earthquakes are not the result of slight movements on normal faults, but rather of "the elastic spring of rocks from energy stored up in them through years of compression." The compression arises mostly from horizontal thrusting.—Copyright, 1928, International Feature Service, Inc.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Aug. 21—Three beautiful New York girls of prominent families have been disabled for nearly a year as the result of efforts to be thin. Subsisting on a diet of acid fruits, all were victims of prolonged attacks of inflammatory rheumatism.

The craze to keep thin exists chiefly among girls between seventeen and twenty-four years of age. Doctors say at no period in their lives are they in such need of health-giving food, and as a result a large percentage drift into wasting maladies.

Private sanitariums are said to be filled with young girls suffering from malnutrition as a result of enforcing a rigid diet. A noted psychologist announces the only object of this starvation is the hope of being attractive and catching a husband.

He further avers the majority, aside from defeating their own purposes, invite chronic invalidism. It is his contention ninety per cent. of men are actually repulsed by unnatural thinness. He points to the fact that in the crop of June brides more than two-thirds of the New York quota were plump.

The craze to reduce has fallen heaviest on restaurants. The luncheon for the average girl today consists of a few sprigs of lettuce or a nibble or so of toast. The evening meal is also ordered just as sparingly. This is largely responsible for inflation of cafe prices.

As an indication of the avoidance of sweets the consumption of sugar fell off 500,000 tons in a year. And scarcely any modern girl will think of eating potatoes. There is one record of a show girl torturing herself so with libations of raw vinegar that she went into a quick decline.

Astute physicians seem agreed a careful diet has value, but a constant and enforced hunger is more destructive even than overeating. Another observation has been noted. There have been girls who starve themselves and grow so weak they resort to alcoholic stimulants, and in some cases drugs.

Despite its sangfroid, Broadway has few cosmopolities. The globe-trotting worldlings are found in the exclusive clubs a few blocks eastward. There are innumerable Broadway sophisticates who have never been abroad or as far west as Chicago. They were brought up to believe Broadway is the high spot of the world and after they gravitated there had no desire to see what was beyond. To them, another city is only camping out. They can no believe Louisville, Kentucky, ladies are just as smartly dressed or that the wise cracks in front of a Des Moines barber shop are just a hot as those pulled in front of the Palace. Indeed Broadway's most famous wisecracker, Joe Frisco, is from Des Moines. The Broadway-wise are the folk who really give the street its provincialism. And many of the lookers-on pains in the neck.

The most encouraging thing to all of us about the presidential campaign is not the fact that one man or the other seems to be forging ahead, but the fact that for once the quadrennial political campaign does not seem to be doing much harm to business. Now that both parties are practically agreed on the tariff and some other fundamental principles we are getting over our season scare about election years.

An authority on psychology says the new way to cure a bad habit is to indulge it vigorously and consciously at regular times. You will soon get sick and tired of it. For example, if you have the bad habit of picking your teeth, set aside ten minutes for tooth picking. If you bite your nails, have a nail biting period each day. It's a dull day when a psychologist can't spring a new idea on the human race.

Hardin County Farmer is Professional Crow Hunter

KENTON, Aug 21—To Thomas R. Miller, Hardin county farmer, hunter, trader and trapper, crow killing is a profession—and a lucrative one at that.

In the last three months he has slain 2,400 crows which, it is believed, stands as an individual record for the state. As a reward for his labors the county has paid him $662.50 in bounty money, each head netting 25 cents.

Uses Decoy

His chief stock in successfully plying his profession are the ride and shotgun, a decoy call of his own make and design, an owl and sometimes a cat.

With the decoy crow call, greatly resembling a pipe with a clothes pin inverted in the bowl, Miller has met with much success in luring the destructive crow within range of his gun. The cat, he ties near the nest of the crow and as the bird draws in to give battle he opens fire. The owl likewise serves as a decoy.

Is Professional

During his three years of professional crow killing, Miller has made a careful study of the crow and its peculiarities and this serves as a big aid in his work. He pointed out that the bird does great damage to the farmer killing hundreds of chickens and eating his corn. They also prey heavily on young pheasants.

The money received for his labors comes in mighty handy but according to Miller himself, crow hunting is not all roses. "It's no easy job lying in mosquito infested spots on a hot day coaxing the birds within range," he said.

WOLL FAVORS BEER AND FIVE-DAY WORKING WEEK

Cincinnati, Aug. 21—Matthew Woll, president of the International Photo Engravers union now holding convention sessions here, was on record today as favoring modification of the Volstead act to permit 2.75 beer and reduction of the working week to five days.

Woll, who also fills the post of vice president of the A. F. O. L., declared a five-day week to be "absolutely essential if we are to give people employment," and voiced his belief that a longer working week tends to throw men out of employment.

MODERN HOMES DO AWAY WITH SCOURING PANS

New Method Ends Arm-breaking Work on Kitchen Utensils

Scouring smelly garbage pails is a thing of the past in modern homes. The alert young housewife of today has found a simple easy way — sanitary and quick. Here it is: Put into the garbage pail a quart or more of water. Then shake in a small quantity of Red Seal Lye, swash it around with a mop and rinse it out. That's all you have to do.

Use Red Seal Lye because it is 97% pure — the purest, quickest, surest, most economical lye made. Red Seal Lye dissolves grease and filth like water dissolves salt—and as fast.

Red Seal Lye is handy not only for purifying garbage pails but for quick cleaning of greasy pots and pans. Its convenient, new-type, handy can makes lye as simple to use as salt or pepper. No trouble at all. Directions for dozens of other household uses are given in a little folder enclosed in the top of every can.

Now (while you are thinking about it) just jot down on your grocery list "Order 1 can Red Seal Lye." Save this article.

"My Hair is a Fright"

Edna Wallace Hopper, the stage favorite, in her sixties still graces the footlights with the vivacious charm of a flapper. She knows the art of a lovely appearance. Miss Hopper in an interview remarks that women always apologize when trying on a new dress or hat. How many of them say, "Of course, it will look better when my hair is in decent shape."

So it is well to know that you can always keep your looking its best. Even the trying heat-record days of summer need not dismay you.

Miss Hopper with some forty years of stage work behind her, knows the tricks of attracting. Among the most important she rates a fresh, lovely wave. She has found the perfect curling fluid to keep your hair alluring regardless of circumstances.

Wave and Sheen, she calls it. A liquid dressing which is a godsend, especially during the summertime. It not only preserves the wave but gives your hair a soft, fascinating sheen. Try it on your freshly shampooed hair. Money back if you are not delighted.

At all toilet counters, 75 cents.—Adv.

DRY CLEANING IS NO LONGER considered a luxury; it is a practical economy that every one should take advantage of, for it not only removes all grease and dirt, but it destroys disease germs, moth eggs and brightens colors, raises the nap and freshens the fabric without taking the life out of the goods. Dry Cleaning ie just as positive in its good results when applied to curtains, rugs, portieres, tapestry, baby or auto robes, blankets or hangings of any description as to elaborately trimmed ball and party gowns, opera cloaks, wraps or fancy waists; in fact, it can be used to your great good in every part of your home. When done by us it will please and satisfy you, because, with our ability and equipment, we give you a "service that saves."

Tells Dyspeptics What To Eat

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas On Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretion or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bisurated Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antacid than Bisurated Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a digestant. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthfully without need of pepsin pills or artificial digestents.

Get a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid, milk or citrate and in the bisurated form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."—Adv.

A ROMANCE OF GRIPPING HUMAN INTEREST

BY WINIFRED VAN DUZER

CHAPTER THIRTY-SEVEN

OUT on a country road where Autumn burned fires of blinding gold and blood red in all the trees and where every hill wore a scarf of tinted vapor, Kitten was saying good-bye to Ted.

Not a lingering good-bye nor a graceful one. A tilt of the arrogant little chin, a side-wise glance of the yellow eyes, a shrug of one small shoulder.

And heel tapping away in the dust of the long, long road. She didn't look back.

He put the big car into gear and rolled beside her, concern etching lines on the boyish face.

"But Kitten you can't walk. It's five miles at least. Be sensible, won't you?"

She didn't seem to hear and after a time he said no more. But he kept the car rolling at her side till a bus came up and she climbed aboard.

It had started early in the afternoon when he telephoned.

"You never give me a whirl any more, Kitten. Why not come out for a ride?"

"Don't care to ride today, thanks."

"You said that the last time. What's the mater, Red-head?"

"Nothing's the matter and I wish you wouldn't call me names."

"But you used to like driving. Have I done anything?"

"It's what you don't do gives me a pain. "You're too poky, Ted Lanier."

A silence on the wire; then, "All right. I'll do whatever you say.. If it's excitement you're looking for where shall I meet you?'

He was eager to please when they did meet but Kitten seemed determined not to be pleased. The ride developed into bids for friendliness on Ted's part and silences on hers. In desperation he drove into Deep Valley Inn and she brightened at once.

He spoiled this however, by refusing her a second cocktail and they set out to drive again.

They barely had turned into the country road and parked a moment when he brought the situation to a head.

"Why not cut out all the wild stuff, honey? Don't get you anywhere. Ain't so good for me, remembering I bought you your first drink."

"Is that so! You're too dam' righteous for any use."

"Please don't swear, Kitten. Such a pretty little thing as you."

"That's about all you ever say to me. Don't do this, don't do that. Who gave you the right to boss me?"

"I'm not bossing you. Only a fellow knows things a nice girl doesn't. I thought—you see I thought maybe we might get married some day, Kitten. If you like me enough."

She glanced at him and looked down quickly, thinking fast. Wealth, position—get away from the Hill—one of the Norrises asking her to marry him. After all, she'd like Ted if he weren't so poky. His wife could change that.

But the Norrises—how would they feel about it Cut him off, maybe? Look on her as resigning.

"How about your family, Ted?"

"Family? I haven't any. Nobody but me to be suited and believe me I'd be that all right. We'd get a little house somewhere; one of those cute bungalows and live like a king and queen. I make good money and I've been saving my bankroll, honeygirl."

He was so exuberant that he didn't see the pinched look go over her face, nor the sudden green of her eyes.

She said, in a tight voice, "You—you work, then?"

"Certainly. How'd you suppose I'd drive a car like this? Got the best shuffering job in the county Practically my own boss—hey, what's the matter? Where you going?"

She was getting out of the car. "Chauffeur!" she spat at him. "You! And you ask me to marry you"

It was then she tilted her chin and gave him the side-wise glance and went tapping away down the road.

A long time before she saw him again. And when that time came she saw him through tears.

• • •

Marilee Grainger was visiting her aunt in the East Eighties and now Kent was driving into town to see her.

He had come back from his wandering to and fro; he was ready to settle down. A piece of luck he considered the offer of the district attorney post; not a great thing, of course, in a county where major crimes happened only once every three or four years. But a good start.

It would help put him on the map; besides he had definite ideas about what the county needed in the way of a political cleanup. It was for chaps like himself, fortunately in a position where money wasn't the thing of great importance, to put that over.

Not that he had any idea of getting by on his father's wealth. His every instinct pointed to individuality; life was a gift held in trust and the one who wouldn't make the most of it did not amount to much. Help along the other fellow since he needn't grub for himself; give the folks clean government if that task fell to his lot.

In the meantime his marriage was still unsettled. He was not even engaged; on the few occasions he had seen Marilee after that night in the garden he felt no impulse to speak of an engagement.

But now he thought it was up to him. Since this was the thing to do, might as well get through with it. He didn't know, really, why he hadn't done it before.

Settle it tonight and let them make the wedding preparations. Right after election would be a good time. They'd think that too soon, though; have to wait till the first of the year, very likely.

He crossed the ferry at Forty-second street and began to drive uptown. But he made little headway for this was the hour of the theater rush; when finally he did turn from the avenue into the side street it was 9 o'clock.

At the apartment he was told that Marilee and her aunt were dining out. He didn't care especially; the library looked inviting and he sauntered in there to wait.

The hour stretched into two as he ran through the newspapers, thinking of his plans. When at last he grew restless he sat down before the radio and turned the dials.

Stations shifted under his fingers; finally he caught the last notes of a song and came to keen attention. Only one in the world could sing like that, he mused; only John McCormack.

The voice came again, goldenly, throbbing with passion:

"Oh moon of my delight that knows no wane,
The moon of heaven is rising once again—"

Kent sat back, suddenly white. He hadn't heard that song in years; now it was like a clear, bright light turned in upon himself. It went piercing through the wordliness he had acquired, through the image of himself he had built up in his own mind; it showed the restlessness that had seized him the night he tried to propose to Marilee Grainger—the restlessness that overwhelmed him whenever he was near her—for what it was. Distaste. He didn't love Marilee; he never would and he couldn't marry her.

But there was a love deep in his heart. The light picked that out, revealed it to him.

He saw himself, a school-boy, moving across a makeshift stage to a girl like a rose touched by moonlight. All in white, pale hair shimmering. He saw himself bend down swiftly, heard his own voice say, "Lord, you're sweet, Emmy! So white and sweet—little white flower—"

He saw, as in a picture, the girl grown older, luminous fairy creature in a garden; felt the warm fragrance of her lips as his own touched them.

Always he had held the thought of her, loving it, never suspecting till now when the very song that he, himself, had sung to her shocked him into realization.

He sprang up and began to pace back and forth.

"And when thyself with shining foot shall pass
Among the guests, star-scattered on the grass,
And in thy joyous errand reach the spot
Where I made one, turn down an empty glass!"

The glorious voice softened and silenced on a high note. Kent threw out his arms muttering: "Lord! Supposing it had been too late—good Lord—"

He snatched his hat and tore out of the house. Marilee and her aunt were coming as he dashed by; they called but he didn't see them. He turned his car toward Lyall.

What he intended to do he didn't know. Excepting that he wished to see Emily Day. He would drive up the hill, ask to speak to her. Perhaps she had forgotten him? Such a long time since they had met. Or perhaps she loved someone else?

That thought turned in his mind, leaving it blank. He brought his car to a crawling stop under the trees across the street from the Day home.

He heard voices on the porch. While he waited a big young fellow came to the top of the steps and descended, turning backward toward a girl who called to him gaily. The girl was Emily, slender and all in white, pale hair a-fluff in the glow of a lighted window. Kent recognized the man as Marty Nolan.

Long after Marty's footsteps had silenced down the street and Emily had gone in and closed the door he sat there.

So it was too late, he kept telling himself.

Nolan of all people! He felt very weary.

To be continued.

THE HEART STORY OF A WOMAN'S AFFECTIONS

By ADELE GARRISON

HIDEOUS HEAD OF BLACKMAIL RISES THROUGH CHECKS

WITH the feeling of something decidedly unpleasant in the offing, I took the magazine Dicky handed to me and spread it out before us as he had commanded. It was one of the immense affairs devoted to feminine needs, and made an effective screen between us and the eyes of Mary and Marion in the front seat if they should happen to turn their heads or glance into the mirror.

At first I was furious at Dicky for choosing this time for showing me Mary's bank book and check book, which he had kept in his pocket after I had picked them up in the hall at the farmhouse. Then I realized that if we wished to get them back to Mary without her suspecting we had seen them, we would have to work quickly upon our arrival. I hoped Dicky had some plan for this. I was so upset by his warning to "prepare to be foiled" that I felt incapable of coherent thought.

"Take this first," Dicky murmured, taking hold of the magazine and slipping me the bank book. "Don't exclaim!"

I would have been annoyed at the fussy and unnecessary mandate if I had been able to feel any emotion save fear as to the revelation which I might find in the bank book. I opened it and scanned its brief record of deposits, the dates a month apart. The record presented nothing new to me, for I knew the amount which Braithwaites rent to Marion and the day of the week on which the remittance came. The date of the deposit was invariably within a day or two of the weekly receipt of her remittance.

"Never mind trying to tally it," Dicky muttered. "I've got all that dope made out for you. Just note the approximate date of those deposits and give the book back to me. Then look at this."

I gave the bank book back and received into my hands the folding check book, turning its pages and scanning each entry carefully. They covered the weeks of the Summer and were two in number on each week. One for a ridiculously small sum, was made out to cash, and the other, representing almost the balance of the weekly allowance, was made out to "Janet Rawdon." Over and over that name appeared upon the check stubs, and when I came to the last entry, made but two days before, I felt as if I were driving a car through a heavy fog.

Mechanically I folded the book and handed it back to Dicky. He put both books into their case, his eyes warily fixed upon Mary, and then slipped a paper covered with figures into my hands.

"This sizes up the thing and is a complete record of it, if we need it," he said. "Better show it to Lil after we get home. Harry's seen it already and agrees with me that we've got to get busy and find out who this mysterious dame is. The devil take the girl! I thought we were through with all worry over her actions, but I guess she's a glutton for punishment."

I put my finger to my lips, for his voice was rising and he quickly fell silent.

"Don't jump to conclusions," I whispered in loyalty to Mary, but I found it hard to follow my own advice after I had looked over the figures Dicky had jotted down. They made so plain the fact that Mary had spent less than a fifth of the very liberal allowance her uncle and aunt had given her, and that the greater part of the remainder had been turned over to the mysterious "Janet Rawdon."

The "blackmail" reared its ugly head within my consciousness as I [illegible] the paper and tucked it carefully away in the hill compartment of my purse. Was this "Janet Rawdon" associated with Jack Leslie who was threatening to reveal the secret of Mary's escapade—the masked dancer?

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Humorous Boyhood Adventure

By JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

TODAY was Tuesday, and I bet a fella could almost fry an egg on the piece of sheet iron we all sot on yesterday. The whole bunch stood up in the barn this morning whilst I was milking the dummed brutes, and I didn't care much about setting on the milk stool whilst I milked the cow and her dotter. Niba was the last one of all to get there and he had a mushmelon with him and he said he would cut it when I got done milking, and he said the fella that would go to the kitchen and ast my mother for a knife to cut it with would get the most of it. The Lost Bag of Tripe was nearest to the door, like he always is, because if he thinks of something mean to do to the rest of us he wants to be where he can skin out, so he flang both doors open and shun out for the house before any of the others could get started, and Niba was in the door right behind him and he hulled off and soaked him in the back of the neck and between his ears with the mushmelon, and it was the rottenest mushmelon that had ever happened, and the Lost Bag of Tripe was almost knocked down, and the melon smashed all over the neighborhood and Niba pulled the door shut, and held it, and the Lost Bag of Tripe was battering on it, and crying, and saying that he would fight all of us, and we all hoorawed him, and then there was a knot hole in the side of the stable and the first thing we knowed the dirty crook had put the nozzle of the hose through the knot hole and the sprinkler was on and there wasn't a place in the barn where it didn't get to. A lot of it hit the cows and ran down into the milk pail, so it was a good thing the milk hadn't been strained yet. I put the millpail where the cow couldn't step on it, and then I went hunting out of the door and grabbed the hose and jerked it away from him and turned it on him, and he tried to get to me, but the water was too strong for him, and then I dropped the hose and hung one on his hook, and he run in and shouted me and we fell down and the water had made a lot of mud and we got plastered, and my father all come holding of me the house and my father says we upset and held us till Freddie and Youngie and Maggie told us about how it happened, and my father said the first sentence was all wet, so he told me to finish milking and he gave the Lost Bag of Tripe a skate in the pants that lifted him toardst the front gate, and when I got back in the barn the dogs had drinked most of the milk, and when I tried to get the cows to give me some more they wouldn't do it. Cows are very stubborn. I had to strain what I had. Then my mother let us turn on the hose and play in the water in the yard with our clothes on. We certainly had a lot of fun. And what made it all the better my ant said she didn't approve of such doings.

TIMBAUT & MAUTZ BROS.

YEH! COWBOYS, INJUNS, PARADE!

His name is Clyde H. Willard, and he's boyland's hero today, for he brought to town the romance of the Indian war council, the round-up, water hole fights and covered wagons to thrill youthful hearts.

Clyde is the skipper of the No. 1 advertising car of Miller Brothers' 101 Ranch Real Wild West, the biggest of its kind, coming to Marion next Friday and showing on the Drake circus lot.

"Indians with the show, Mister?" screamed eager boys.

"Two hundred of 'em fellows!" answered Clyde, as man to man. "Two hundred warriors, all of 'em riding, fighting redskins, with their scalping knives and tomahawks gleaming in the sun."

"Wow! Gee Whiz!" "How about cowboys, real cowboys?"

"Right off the 101 Ranch, Oklahoma," explained Clyde. "There are 200 cowboys and cowgirls, and they are real, too. They have been riding outlaws, hurling horses, wild mustangs, cow ponies and roping longhorn cattle right along just as their fathers did before them; for, you see, there's about 140,000 acres in 101 Ranch, and Miller Brothers, who own it, have only real cow punchers. They wear the guns they use on the ranch."

"Are there buffalo, Mister?"

"A whole herd of them, for there's 700 buffalo on the ranch, too. And there will be elephants and camels, too.

"Will there be a parade?"

"Sure thing, even if the other big circuses have given them up as too expensive. It's the largest street parade in the world, fellows, and I'll give you my word on this—it's all new this year.

"Oh, that's great!" shrilled the youngsters, and followed Willard's billposters and bannermen everywhere, for Clyde's is the first of the advertising cars that will hit the city, the country and surrounding towns for the coming of the big show.

Local Railway Employes and Families to Attend Outings at Lake Resorts

Hocking Valley's Annual Event Planned for Saturday at Put-in-Bay; Pennsylvania Group To Spend Wednesday of Next Week at Cedar Point

Employes of two Marion railroads, with their families and friends, will hold their annual outings at two popular resorts on Lake Erie—Put-in-Bay and Cedar Point—this week and next, according to announcements made here today.

Saturday morning approximately 100 employes of the Hocking Valley will leave for Toledo from where a boat trip will be made to Put-In-Bay. An all-day outing will be held.

Next week, on Wednesday, Toledo division employes of the Pennsylvania railroad will gather at Cedar Point. Around 75 from Marion are expected to attend.

In both instances special trains will be run from Columbus early in the morning with the return being made at night. The family picnic basket will furnish the food for the day.

State Fair Excursions

Three one-day excursions to the Ohio State fair at Columbus next week will be run by the Hocking Valley railroad on Aug. 29, 30 and 31, it was announced today at Union station.

The special trains will leave Marion at 8:35 o'clock in the morning and on Wednesday and Thursday will return at 7:30 and 11:35 o'clock at night. On Friday night only one train will be run on the return trip at 11:35 o'clock.

Final to Niagara

The final excursion to Niagara Falls over the Big Four railroad this season will be run as a pre-Labor day event on Sunday, Sept. 2. The train will leave Marion at 2:45 o'clock in the morning, arriving at the falls at 10 o'clock.

N. Y. Trips Popular

Another 16-day excursion to New York will be operated by the Erie railroad on Aug. 23. These trips have proven very popular in Marion with quite a number of persons taking advantage of the special rates.

Sunday Excursions

The Pennsylvania railroad is operating excursion trains to Sandusky and Cedar Point every Sunday morning.

On Vacation

F. L. Solander, supervisor of the Pennsylvania railroad in Marion, is off from work this week taking a vacation.

There are several species of birds that can travel much faster than any aeroplane. The fastest is the "frigate bird," which has its home in the tropics. This bird is remarkable for its long wings, and is said to be capable of flying 200 miles an hour.

Solution of Mt. Gilead Bus Station Problem Now in Sight

PLANS COMPLETED FOR NEW QUARTERS

Agreement Reached on Rooms Formerly Used by Loan Company

LEASE IS PROPOSED

Selection of Mt. Gilead Bus Depot Expected To Eliminate Traffic Trouble

Mt. Gilead, Aug. 21—Mt. Gilead will have a bus station within the next few weeks if plans completed by the Kiwanis club, city council, and bus owners materialize. The station will be located in rooms now occupied by the Mt. Gilead Savings & Loan Co. which will move to new quarters within 10 days. The site for the bus station is located in the northwest corner of the square. That it will be agreed upon is now regarded as a certainty.

Much complaining has been done since the three bus lines started through Mt. Gilead on account of the traffic congestion caused by the buses stopping at the Central restaurant where they made their headquarters. Other station sites were suggested and some were attempted but were never satisfactory. The new location apparently eliminates all objections.

Proposed Arrangements

Under the arrangements now made, the bus owners will furnish rent, water, heat, light and the Kiwanis club and the council will help defray the cost of equipping the station up to standards. This will mean the installation of rest rooms, and other equipment. A janitor and station keeper will also be provided to answer phone calls, and give information.

In all probability a pay station will be installed by the telephone company. This will make the station useful to local people as well as transients.

Meeting Planned

The rooms will probably be rented or leased this week at a proposed meeting of the council committee, Kiwanis committee, and the bus representatives. They hope to rush plans through to completion and have the station open by Sept. 1. The traffic congestion in Mt. Gilead on Saturday night is increased by the buses stopping in the middle of the street and at present there is no other place for them to park.

If selected, this station will be the culmination of several years of plans and conferences.

Entire Body Was A Solid Mass of Aches And Pains

Rheumatic Misery Terrible; He Declares Konjola Relieved Him.

MR. GEORGE TAYLOR

"Konjola gave me new health in every way," said Mr. George Taylor of Beloit, Ohio, (near Alliance) "and I get wonderful relief from rheumatism which I had been suffering for ten years.

"My health was rundown in general and I was forced to quit my work for weeks at a time because of the rheumatic pains I constantly suffered. The pains centered in my shoulder blades and across the small of my back. I couldn't walk with my body straightened up, but had to bend over to relieve the terrible pains. Sleep was almost impossible and the mornings would find me stiff and achy all over. In fact, my whole body was a solid mass of aches and pains.

"I had no idea Konjola would help me like it did. I noticed a great improvement after the first bottle was gone and I kept on with this medicine. I was feeling better every day. Now I am able to work every day and can walk as straight without any misery. In fairness to other sufferers, I am glad to indorse this medicine."

Konjola is different than any other known remedy in this section. It contains twenty-two juices extracted from natural plants which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, to a more healthy action. The effect of Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that had been going on for years. At the same time many weak and rundown systems have been restored to a new state of health through this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medical product until now Konjola is the most highly endorsed medicine that is known in this vicinity.

COUSINS REUNITED AFTER 50 YEARS

Kenton, Aug. 21—After fifty years of separation two cousins, Mrs. Leonard Heath, West Carrol st., and Mrs. Esther Agnes Huginen, of Seville, O., met yesterday at a dinner given by the Rev. and Mrs. Dale Crites in their home, South Main st.

Mrs. Huginen has been living in the west for many years and only recently returned to Ohio. She is the house guest of Reverend and Mrs. Crites. Other guests were John H. Crites, father of Reverend Crites, and Willard G. Crites, a nephew, both of Seville.

JUDGE FINES TRIO $1,000 AND COSTS

Marysville Men Lodged in Jail for Sale of Intoxicating Liquor

Marysville, Aug. 21—Wilmer Fensel and Arthur Hoy, of Marysville, were each fined $1,000 and costs, and Cloyd Snyder, also of this city, was fined $100 on charges of selling intoxicating liquor. All three of the men were arraigned before Common Pleas Judge E. W. Porter Monday afternoon.

The men were arrested Friday night by local officers on charges of selling to a dry detective. Fensel is charged with selling the detective whiskey Aug. 11, Hoy on Aug. 4, and Snyder on July 11, Hoy on Aug. 4, and Snyder on July 30.

Fensel and Hoy have each been arrested on similar charges. Fensel was fined $1,000 and costs in the court of Mayor A. F. Robinson, last February. The fine was not paid and he obtained his release through the insolvency court. At the time he was arrested, Fensel was driving a Whippet coach in which the officers found 80 gallons of liquor. Louis Parthemer, of Marysville, was also arrested at the time on a charge of possession and fined $500.

After his release through the insolvency court, Fensel was again arrested on a charge of possession. He again obtained his release under bond and until last Friday had his freedom.

Hoy had also been arrested on a previous charge, but had obtained his release through the insolvency court. Snyder had never been arrested before on a charge of selling liquor.

Each of the three men when arraigned for hearing Saturday, pleaded not guilty and were placed under $2,000 bond each. They claimed that they had not sold whiskey to the detective, because they avoided strangers. They were defended by Attorneys Milo L. Myers and C. A. Hoopes of Marysville. None of the three was able to pay the fine, and will remain in jail until fines are paid, or security given that they will be paid.

BUCYRUS MAN IS PLAINTIFF IN SUIT

Charges Manufacturing Concern with Failure To Keep Contract

ASKS ACCOUNTING

Claims Damages in Loss of Royalties in Foreign Countries

Bucyrus, Aug. 21—Roy J. Winsor, 202½ South Sandusky av., is the plaintiff in a suit filed in common pleas court Monday, against the W. A. Riddel Co., charging the manufacturing firm with having failed to keep a contract made January 3, 1923, which, according to the petition, provided for the payment of a royalty, fixed price, percentage or other sums as might be from time to time mutually agreed upon for each road making machine, embodying his inventions, manufactured by the Hadfield-Penfield Co. It was agreed that a quarterly report of sales and royalties be made to the plaintiff.

On September 18, 1926, the contract was assumed by the W. A. Riddell Co., which was appointed receiver for the Hadfield-Penfield Co.

Winsor claims that a royalty of five dollars for each grader sold was due him and a further royalty of six per cent. of the net selling price on all correlated attachments for each grader was due and payable to him. He also states that the Hadfield-Penfield, its successors, or assigns agreed to file and prosecute patent applications on certain of the plaintiff's inventions in England, Sweden, Australia, South Africa, Argentine and Canada. Contrary to the terms of the contract, Winsor asserts the company, the receivers and the defendant failed to file patent applications in those countries to the plaintiff's damage of $5,000 and that contrary to terms the defendant failed to perform such things as were necessary to be done and performed in order to maintain the patent protection, after having secured a patent in Canada; that as a result of this patent protections the inventions in Canada have been lost to plaintiff's damage of $34,000.

Winsor now asks that the W. A. Riddell company be required to render an accounting for all sums due him, either as commission of royalties under and by virtue of the several contracts, and further asks that the court may determine from the accounting the amount due plaintiff on contracts set forth either as royalties, commissions or damages and that judgment be rendered in his favor for the amount so found to be due.

OIL KENTON STREETS

City's Portion of Gas Tax Used for Treating of Roadways

Kenton, Aug. 21—Approximately 42 blocks of city streets of Kenton have been treated with oil to allay the dust and to preserve the roadway which has been graded and repaired in preparation for the advent of winter. The action was authorized by City Service Safety Director Eugene F. Gelhaus and was done without any petition or other action on the part of residents along the streets.

According to Gelhaus, one tank carload of oil was used in the work of treating the streets, which covers a large share of the unpaved portion of Kenton streets. The money used for this work, about $75, was taken from the city's portion of the gas tax money.

RICHWOOD MAN TAKEN TO MARYSVILLE HOSPITAL

Richwood, Aug. 21—William McKinnon, 66, laborer, was found with his throat cut lying in the yard at the rear of his home, East Ottawa st., here by a neighbor, Wilbur Temple, about 6:30 o'clock Monday night. He had been in ill health. He was removed to the King's Daughters hospital, Marysville, in the F. R. Sanders ambulance.

Mr. McKinnon had been a resident of Richwood since childhood. Since the death of his wife about five years ago he had lived alone. A daughter, Mrs. Sewall Watts, resides at Broadway.

CASES ARE HEARD BY JUDGE VAUGHAN

Morrow County Court Opens for Three-Day Period

SETTLE SEVERAL CASES

Judgment Granted J. W. Barry Against A. J. Moore and Laura Moore

Mt. Gilead, Aug. 21—In the first of a three-day period of court, several motions were disposed of, and several cases settled. Judge W. P. Vaughan presided. Several motions were heard that were not scheduled.

In the money only action of George McCracken and Fred McCracken against Florin Hoole and Gus Rogers, the motion for new trial was overruled with exceptions and judgment given on the verdict.

The demurrer filed in the foreclosure action of J. C. Williamson against Walter W. Ackerman was overruled with exceptions and leave to plead by Sept. 1 was granted. The motion claimed there was not sufficient time for action.

Motion for new trial in the damage action of Reed Bennett against O. C. Whitney, an appeal from the justice of peace court of W. M. Kaufman, was overruled with exceptions and judgment was rendered on the verdict.

A motion filed in the money only action of J. A. Spitzer against Florin Hosler was sustained. The motion was that the plaintiff be required to deposit sufficient funds with the clerk for the costs of the suit. The suit was ordered dismissed at the costs of the plaintiff because the plaintiff was not a resident of Morrow county.

The motion of Sarah Winbigler in the action of Carrie Winbigler and others against Ida Wirick and others, an action to set aside a will, was sustained transferring Sarah Winbigler from a plaintiff to a defendant. She claims in the motion that she was agreed to be a plaintiff in the action.

Leave to answer instanter was granted in the partition action of H. Jacoby against G. W. Moore and others.

Frank Edwards was decreed a divorce from Pearl Edwards on grounds of gross neglect of duty. A divorce was granted at the costs of the plaintiff.

In the foreclosure action of L. Powell against John H. Moore and others, judgment for the plaintiff against John H. and A. J. Moore was granted for $466.47, and judgment for $1,969.93 was granted to J. W. Barry against A. J. Moore and Laura Moore. A decree of foreclosure was also made.

PREPARE FOR SCHOOL

Girls To Return To Maple Crest Home After Vacations

Bucyrus, Aug. 21—Within the next week all the girls from Maple Crest, state home of the King's Daughters, who have during vacation time been visiting at different periods out of the city, will return and prepare for the opening of the 1928 school year. The children will return to Maple Crest and find that many improvements have been added among which was the laying of new hardwood floors throughout the downstairs. This expenditure was taken care of by the state fund.

Mrs. Edward Hughes, county president of the King's Daughters and state trustee, together with Miss Margaret Young, of Pittsburgh, who is visiting her brother and wife, the Rev. and Mrs. H. W. Young, are substituting matrons this week for Mrs. Laura Shurta, matron at Maple Crest who is spending her vacation in Toledo.
